MAYNE G.O.P. MAYOR LEADER

Cioffi Heads Democratic Nominees In Mayor Battle

BOLINGER AND WALTON HEAD COMMISSIONER CANDIDATES

Cioffi Leads As Mayor Candidate For Democrats

Good Is Named As Party Candidate For City Treasurer

RICE AND PSZENNY LEAD FOR COUNCIL

School Board Nominees Will Not Be Known Until Official Count

From the face of the returns from 30 of the 42 city precincts, Dominick Cioffi of the eighth ward will be the Democratic nominee for mayor of the city of New Castle. Mr. Cioffi received 1,091 votes on Tuesday, with several precincts yet to report. His nearest opponent, William R. Stoughton, of the first ward, received 921 votes, and Presley Neville Jones of the second ward received 832 in the same precincts. It is unlikely that the additional precincts will do more than add to Mr. Cioffi's plurality.

Good for Treasurer

For city treasurer Harold A. Good of the second ward has a commanding lead over Tony Mike of the fifth ward. Mr. Good received 1,445 votes in the 30 precincts and Mr. Mike received 720. There is a third candidate, Bert Sisely, who conducted a sticker campaign, but his totals were unavailable at press time.

Council Candidates

The council candidates appear to be J. Myron "Doc." Rice, present incumbent, and Adam Pszenny. Mr. Rice received 1,218 votes in the 30 precincts and Mr. Pszenny 1,130. However, the precincts still out contain several in the south side of the city where Mr. Pszenny showed a lot of strength, and it is possible that he may pass Rice, but the two will be the candidates. C. Russell Brenner was third with 828 votes, Joseph Booth next with 647 votes, and Charles William Means last with 465 votes.

School Board

In the race for school board Harold Harris was the only Democratic candidate filed, but there are several sticker and write-in candidates. No totals on these are available and will not be until the official count is made.

Chief Clerk To E. & A. Head Dies

Charles B. Fiester Taken By Death At Sheridan Ave. Home Today

IN SERVICE HERE SEVERAL YEARS

Charles B. Fiester, chief clerk to Superintendent Norman M. Lawrence of the Erie & Ashtabula division of the Pennsylvania Railroad since 1932, died this morning at 7 o'clock at his home at 219 East Sheridan avenue.

Mr. Fiester became well known and gained an unusually large number of friends during his seven years' residence in New Castle. News of his death came as a shock to many.

For two years he had been in ill health, but he had continued working, except for short periods at times, up until three weeks ago.

Came From Cleveland

On July 25, 1932, Mr. Fiester came here from Cleveland to become the chief clerk to the superintendent of the division. He assumed the position when H. T. Frushour, now superintendent of the Long Island railroad at New York, was superintendent.

Before coming to New Castle from Cleveland he had served the Pennsylvania in various capacities since entering that road's service at Altoona on April 30, 1906, over 33 years ago.

At Cleveland he had served as chief clerk to the general superintendent and before that, in Buffalo, he had served as a division accountant.

Born In Williamsport

Here in New Castle, after serving former Superintendent Frushour, Mr. Fiester served in the chief clerk's capacity under former Superintendents George S. West, C. W.

Shaw Appears Nominee For Commissioner

Second Place For County Commisioner On Democratic Ticket Uncertain

TURNER AND TRAVERS ARE RUNNING CLOSE

Myers Is Leading In Democratic Race For County Controller

While no definite statement can be made as to the winners of the Democratic nomination for county commissioners, it appears likely that the county chairman of the party, John B. Shaw will be one of the winners. The other winner is in doubt, the results with 75 precincts out of the county's 100 being too close for the second place to permit of any intelligent prognostication.

Mr. Shaw received 2466 votes in the 75 precincts. Next came Al Turner, present commissioner with 2083 votes and closely following is Joseph F. Travers with 2042 votes. The other two candidates, Joseph Hahn and John J. Nido are hopelessly out of the race, Hahn getting 854 votes and Nido 706.

Precincts Doubtful

What the remaining 25 precincts will do for Turner and Travers is problematical. They could easily pull Travers up into second place or they could increase Mr. Turner's lead.

For county controller, in the 75 precincts reported Jaspor F. Myers of Union township leads Edward M. Reilly, Jr., of Ellwood City by a vote of 2070 to 1898.

For county treasurer, the present incumbent V. I. Mandich was unopposed and no record of his vote was kept. The same applies to John L. Holsinger who was unopposed for the nomination for prothonotary, and Charles Piper Byers who was unopposed for the nomination for coroner.

Submarine Toll Boosted

(International News Service)

Submarine warfare on the high seas sent the British merchant shipping losses in the current war soaring towards the 100,000 ton mark today as the sinking of three more freighters boosted the total of English ships lost to 15 with a gross tonnage of more than 85,000.

The newest British victims of underseas raiders were the Firby, sunk near the Hebrides Islands where the Athenia met its doom; the Blairlogie, torpedoed off the coast of Ireland, and the Cartovan, destroyed near the Azores.

Another neutral vessel, the Mark, a Netherlands freighter, was destroyed by a mine in the North Sea.

There were reports that a German destroyer, believed to be the Oeresund, was blown up in the Baltic. Whether the German vessel struck a mine or was destroyed by the accidental explosion of mines with which she was loaded was not made clear in the terse report of a Swedish boat in the vicinity.

Total Of 2,000 Furloughed Men Called Back In Pittsburgh District

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 12.—More than 2,000 furloughed employes of the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore and Ohio railroads were called back to work today in the Pittsburgh district.

The employment gain was attributed to the heavy demand for steel, coal and ore shipments. Both railroads will inaugurate extensive programs of repairs to locomotives and freight cars.

The announcement said that shops at Youngwood, Derry, Erie, Olean, Conway and Mahoningtown would benefit. Pennsylvania's Pitcairn district employment has jumped 700 with another 900 men being recalled at other central region points.

Baltimore and Ohio additions totalled 800 furloughed workers in the equipment maintenance department.

250 In New Castle

Pennsylvania railroad officials in New Castle, declared today, that more than 250 furloughed workmen of the company's Seventh ward car repair shop will go back to their jobs as a result of the Pittsburgh announcement. Most of the men are from the New Castle district proper and the rest are from neighboring localities.

Superintendent Norman M. Lawrence said the men are being summoned this week. Some have already been called back.

French Red Cross nurses are meeting the troop trains at stations enroute to the front with coffee for the soldiers.

Republican County Primary Furnishes Some Close Contests

Edgar Is Apparently Winner Of Renomination For Prothonotary

WIMER WINS IN TREASURER BATTLE

Bolinger And Walton Have Commanding Lead For Commissioner

Unless there is an entirely unlooked for upset in the race for the Republican nomination for prothonotary, John A. Edgar present incumbent will be the nominee. With 76 out of 100 precincts in the county reported, Mr. Edgar has 5197 votes. His nearest rival, John P. Brinton has 4158, James H. Elmore 2653 and Percy B. Walls 1693.

Bolinger and Walton

For the Republican nominations for county commissioner George H. Bolinger of Neshannock township and William R. Walton of Hickory township seem assured of success. With 76 precincts reported, Mr. Bolinger, who is now in the commissioners' office, received 7,608 votes and Mr. Walton, who almost won four years ago, was second with 6,117 votes.

On the basis of the same number of precincts, Floyd L. Cotton, at present a commissioner finished third with 4827 votes; George Dean of Slippery Rock township received 4,187 votes, and William R. Moore of Wilmington township received 2,847 votes. The remaining 24 precincts will hardly disturb the lead of Bolinger and Walton, it is thought.

Wimer Is Named

For the county treasurer nomination Earl R. Wimer is a sure winner, poling more votes than his two rivals, Thomas C. Edmunds and Frank S. Nessle. Mr. Wimer made a runaway race of it, polling 8,033 votes. Mr. Edmunds was second with 3,065, and Mr. Nessle third with 3,015 votes. The remaining precincts may change the second and third positions, but cannot possibly affect Mr. Wimer's lead. He is a former city controller of New Castle.

Nugent for Coroner

For the nomination for coroner, Dr. T. F. Nugent, well-known veterinarian, is apparent winner. In this race 87 precincts are accounted for, with Dr. Nugent having 5,327 votes. Charles E. Patterson is second with 4,777 votes and Charles E. Allen has 3,731 votes. There are but 13 more precincts to hear from, which seems to indicate certain success for Dr. Nugent.

County Controller Frank W. Hill was unopposed for the nomination and no record was kept of his total votes.

Developments In War Today

(International News Service)

Calm before what may prove the first major French-British offensive was reported today from the western front, while in the east Poland's battered forces held tightly onto beleaguered Warsaw.

War developments:

PARIS—Early fall of Saarbrucken was predicted in the French press. War communique No. 17 merely said: "The night was calm along the whole front," but this was taken as confirmation that the French have cleaned up German advance posts between the line of forts, and now are about ready for a grand offensive.

With the German army west of Warsaw—German troops launched a final attack on five Polish divisions trapped north of Lodz, predicting their surrender in a day or two, clinching victory in west Poland for Germany.

BUDAPEST—Polish broadcasters insisted that German attacks on Warsaw were hurled back several miles to the west.

LONDON—Britain announced a convoy system, aimed to end Germany's successes in submarine warfare, had been put into force. For the first time London confirmed the active presence of British troops and airmen in France.

BERLIN — Germany announced counter-measures against the British blockade were being taken, predicting that Britain's attempts to cut off the Reich's supplies will fail.

The crucial battle with Polish forces west of the Vistula is "nearing its end," the German high command announced, adding that Posen Thorn, Gnesen, Hohensalza and other Posen Province cities have been occupied.

So far no serious conditions have been found, although some recommendations have been made in connection with conditions at one-room schoolhouses. There were only four cases of contagious diseases, two of mumps and two of chickenpox, in the county at the time schools were opened.

During the summer months baseball games on city streets have annoyed motorists and endangered the lives of children, and now it is football. Of the two, it is probable that football is the more dangerous, since the players are usually more energetic than in baseball. Public streets were never designed for playgrounds and while we are sympathetic with children who desire a place to play, we feel that for their own protection it would be much better to find some vacant lot, or go to the nearest playgrounds to their homes. Players are often found on the street within a block or two of a public playground.

Former Mayor Has Good Lead For Nomination

Haven Is Second In Race With Some Precincts Yet To Come

McKIBBEN NAMED FOR TREASURER

Davies And Fink Lead For Council—School Board Contest Is Close

Charles B. Mayne, former mayor of the City of New Castle has again been named as the Republican nominee for the office it appears from the returns of 33 of the 42 city precincts. In the 33 precincts reported, Mr. Mayne received 2949 votes, a commanding lead over his nearest opponent, John F. Haven who received 2369. The present mayor, Charles E. McGrath received 1,691 votes, Louis G. Genkinger 1,371, Daniel Cunningham 563 and Coy Cole 171.

Mr. Mayne is a veteran of the political wars. For years he was alderman of the first ward, served in city council and from 1931 to 1935 served as mayor of the city. The precincts yet to come are such precincts as will probably add to Mr. Mayne's plurality but at all odds will hardly lessen the lead of 580 he has.

McKibben Wins

C. C. "Rube" McKibben, present city treasurer had little difficulty in winning nomination for re-election, getting 4504 votes in 30 precincts reported of the city's 42. William A. Moore his opponent received a handsome vote, getting 2700 but was unable to cope with heavy leads piled up by McKibben in the 3rd and fourth wards. The remaining precincts may change the plurality lead somewhat but there is no possibility of Moore's catching McKibben.

Council Leaders

There appears to be little doubt that D. O. Davies and J. Leon Fink will be the nominees for city council. Out of 30 precincts reported Mr. Davies, a veteran of two terms in city council received 2680 votes. Mr. Fink who is serving at present received 2117. A number of second ward precincts are still out and these will probably add heavy totals to Fink's vote thus assuring him of a place on the ticket. It is likely that Davies will lead the field.

School Board Contest Close

In the school board fight the only apparent winner as this extra goes to press is Robert L. Preston who is now serving the unexpired term of Walter W. Duff. In 29 precincts reported Mr. Preston received 3823 votes. The next candidate who appears most likely to win is Griff Thomas who received 3383 votes in the 29 precincts.

For the third place on the ticket V. O. Potter, Leslie Brindle and C. L. Shira are fighting it out. In the 29 precincts reported Mr. Potter received 3188 votes, Mr. Brindle 3086 votes and Mr. Shira 3061. Precincts yet to come are divided in their supposed favorite and no prediction can be made now. This race was one of the closest of the day, five substantial citizens fighting for three places on the school board ticket.

Far-Reaching Congress Plan Is Studied

Would Meet U. S. Problems

Laws To Prevent Profiteering Are Included In Proposals Studied

HOARDING WOULD ALSO BE HALTED

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—A far-reaching legislative program for the regular session of congress—contingent upon repeal of the neutrality act arms embargo in a special session—was reported today to be under consideration by high administration officials.

The program, which is said to have been discussed in administration departmental councils as a result of the situation created by the European war, would be designed to meet problems arising both from the war and from a war boom in business.

Chief Proposals

Chief proposals studied by experts some of which have officially been described as possibilities, include:

1. Drastic war profits tax designed to prevent profiteering should the allies make huge purchases in this country at high prices.
2. Legislation to prevent hoarding of food and prohibiting profiteering in staple commodities.
3. Increased control over transportation so the administration could prevent congestion or delay in delivering supplies both for domestic and export business.
4. Strengthening government power to combat espionage or sabotage.
5. Conferring emergency powers on the president to intervene in labor disputes in essential industries, somewhat in the manner of operation of the World War labor peace machinery.

BELIEVE MAJOR OFFENSIVE NEAR ON WEST FRONT

Adolf Hitler, grew impatient. Since Britain was in the war, since its war cabinet had announced plans for a three-to-ten years' struggle, the British public began saying: "Let's get on with it!"

Military authorities agree that France's tactics thus far have been wise; that the French must of necessity test the German Limes line before trying with artillery, tanks, and infantry the initial grand push of the war.

Major Offensive Nears

France's authoritative press predicts a major offensive shortly; the British public calls for it, and the fact that Germany's armies apparently have been halted in Poland seems to make it expedient.

In Poland the first pitched battle of the war was being fought, with some 50,000 to 75,000 Polish troops reported by German sources to be trapped in the bottle, its neck at Warsaw, formed by armies smashing from the north and southwest.

These Polish divisions, which found their escape to the east cut off, were being hammered to pieces, according to the Germans.

Warsaw remains safe, with women wielding shovels while the men fire guns, but an important German thrust towards the city of Lwow (Lemberg) in the southwest is reported.

Poles East Of Warsaw

The main Polish force is understood to be east of Warsaw, rather than in the city itself. Unable to penetrate the streets of the capital, the infantry and mechanized divisions of the Germans are understood to be trying to surround the city with a swinging movement from the southwest. But, the Poles point out, this would form a perilous German salient on the east which might easily be severed.

Germany's submarine warfare was marked with further success as Britain's counter-measures slowly got under way.

Three more British freighters were sent to the bottom yesterday. Fifteen British, four German, one French and three neutral ships have been sunk since the beginning of what the British alleged was another campaign of unrestricted submarine warfare.

booty and an inestimable number of prisoners already have been taken.

"On the eastern bank of the Vistula south of Warsaw, armored German troops captured a number of heavy guns, including four 22-centimeter (about nine-inch) mortars.

"Enemy attempts to break the iron ring around Kutno have been repulsed.

Air Attacks

"North of the Vistula, German troops approaching the Modlin fortress (an imposing pile built by Napoleon) defeated the enemy northeast of Warsaw. Pursuing the enemy, Germans have crossed the line between Warsaw and Bialystok, while advance guards reached the railway line between Warsaw and Siedlce.

"The air force attacked the enemy near Kutno and bombarded the rear of communications east of the Vistula. A group of dive-bombers blocked the eastern outlets of Warsaw and destroyed the Bialystok railway station.

"Naval forces captured Grossendorf on the western part of the Hela Peninsula (near Danzig).

"The western front reports skirmishes near advance posts between Saargemuende and Hornbek. No aerial attacks upon Reich territory were reported yesterday."

At the same time the communique was issued, the supreme command announced that Posen, Thorn, Hohensalza and numerous other cities and towns in Posen province had been occupied during the last few days, bringing back into German hands virtually all the portions of Poland that lay within the boundaries of the Reich before the World War.

There's not much likelihood of any of our public officials here following the example of Pittsburgh's director of public supplies, who issued an order prohibiting girls in his department from powdering their noses. It takes a lot of nerve to do that. Powdering her nose seems to be a woman's sacred right, and no official order can ever wipe out the stigma of a shiny nose in her estimation. Such an order might easily start a revolution, and the gals have plenty of powder on their side.

Miss Soffel, a Republican, was expected to poll her largest vote in the Republican primary where she opposed Judge Marion D. Patterson of Blair county, who bears unofficial organization support. Miss Soffel holds the endorsement of Pennsylvania's Republican senator, James J. Davis.

In the Democratic primary, where Miss Soffel is also entered, Herbert F. Goodrich, dean of the University of Pennsylvania Law School, is apparently headed for the Democratic nomination for supreme court. Dean Goodrich has been endorsed by the Democratic State committee.

One Contest

Only one contest marks the superior court race in which the three Republican incumbents, organization-supported, are seeking re-election, that being the Republican candidacy of former Judge Arthur C. Dale of Bellefonte. Apparently slated for victory in the G.O.P. primary are Judges William H. Keller, Lancaster; Thomas J. Baldrige, Altoona; and William E. Hirt, Erie. Hirt was appointed earlier this year to the unexpired term vacated by Gov. Arthur H. James. The other jurists are completing 10-year terms.

Judge Keller has been endorsed by the Demcorats, the other two Democratic candidates for the superior court, neither of whom has opposition, being Congressman J. Harold Flannery, Wilkes-Barre, and Edward J. Thompson, Phillipsburg, former state senator.

In Philadelphia, in the one local contest which holds statewide interest, six Republican and three Democratic candidates are battling for their respective party mayoralty nominations, preparatory to the general election in which a Democratic-Independent Republican fushion ticket is attempting to overthrow the incumbent Republican organization.

In Pittsburgh, the chief fight is in the Republican primary where two factions are battling for patronage control. The Democratic primary there is relatively quiet.

face a vigorous debate in the senate. White House aides had noted a poll by Senator Warren R. Austin (Vermont) Assistant senate Republican leader, indicating that between 18 and 25 senators were prepared to fight the Roosevelt neutrality program to the bitter end. The administration seemed certain of a safe majority however.

Suspends Sugar Quotas

Meanwhile Mr. Roosevelt checked soaring sugar prices in a manner that indicated the White House would not countenance profiteering. An executive order suspended sugar marketing quotas temporarily which will make possible a flood of sugar from Cuba, Puerto Rico and the Philiippines.

"A great number of complaints have been made within the past few days" said the president, "that the quota restrictions on sugar marketing are making it difficult and costly for housewives and industrial users to get enough sugar to supply domestic needs."

Last week Secretary of Agriculture Wallace pointed out there was a domestic sugar surplus of 800,000 tons.

See Special Session Call

Despite the prospects of sharp debate over neutrality repeal, it was regarded certain the president would call a special session for that purpose—although he said he has not yet decided upon a date.

Borah keynoted the opposition when he said:

"There is no time when fair and open and courageous discussion is more essential for the protection of public interests than when we are under the sway of emergency sentiments."

He likewise challenged the president's assertion that congress should meet and adjourn quickly.

"No one can confine congress to one subject but congress itself," he said. "There are many things to be discussed. Congress should remain in sesssion constantly until the regular January session and should be consulted on all problems."

BRITISH JOIN FRENCH ON WESTERN FRONT

plains east of the Saar for a couple of miles, then through woods which end in another flat stretch falling away to the Rhine river.

As the Germans fell back to the forts of the Westwall proper, the French cautiously went forward through terrain studded with every kind of enemy trap, such as mines and machine-gun nests.

Vague communiques so far do not mention it, but it was believed that British soldiers already are in the lines or are ready to relieve the French—not because in the brief war the French are yet exhausted, but for the moral value of displaying French-British unity in the face of German attempts to win peace on the basis of the occupation of western Poland.

Roland D'Orgeles, French author and broadcaster, was permitted by the censors last night to reveal that British soldiers are in France and fighting "in large numbers" on the front.

The number, it was stated, will be increased greatly.

D'Orgeles said he was not able to give the actual count of British soldiers, but, he said, "I can assure you they are quite numerous, and the German taunt 'England fights only with French soldiers' will be denied in the trenches."

the Republican ticket County Controller Frank W. Hill is unopposed and on the Democratic ticket County Treasurer V. I. Mandich is unopposed for nomination for an elected term. John L. Some Shifts

In the past few days there seems to have been a shift in the complexion of several races, notably the county commissioner. In the Democratic primary a bitter fight has developed and in the Republican primary some combinations have been made which bode no good for some candidates.

At noon a rough estimate based upon cross section checking seemed to indicate that about 9,000 voters had gone to the polls in this county out of a possible 40,000 votes.

The voting in the afternoon and early evening is expected to show a heavy increase. Polls are open until 8 o'clock and it suggested that housewives and others who can, get to the polls in time to permit mill, space at the polls between 5:30 and store and office employes plenty of 8 o'clock.

Warsaw Battle In Final Stage

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WITH THE GERMAN ARMY WEST OF WARSAW, Sept. 12.—The death struggle for possession of Warsaw swept into its final stage shortly before noon today when the German army extended its firing front clear from Kutno to Radom, seeking to blast out five or six Polish divisions believed hopelessly trapped in the woods north of Warsaw and west of Lodz.

The main portion of the battle for Warsaw is now raging around the Konskie-Kielce-Radom sector, where since early morning the Germans hammered the cornered Polish divisions so mercilessly that they began to fall apart and surrender.

1939 SITUATION IS NOT SAME AS 1914

PERHAPS we are too prone to compare 1939 with 1914 and find analogies which are neither sound nor factual. At least, we should not be too hasty in assuming that the World War is repeating itself.

A recent press dispatch points out that the nations which thus far have signified their intention of remaining aloof from the European conflict greatly outnumber those which took a neutral position at the outset of the World War.

The formidable number of neutrals therefore is in a stronger position to influence and enforce respect for their rights than was the small band which during the World War complained of disregard of rights by the warring powers.

The United States, Soviet Russia and Italy—who fought with the Allies in the World War—constitute the largest bloc in the current neutrality group. Italy, which early took a neutral position in the World War, soon was fighting on the side of England and France. President Roosevelt has proclaimed the United States' neutrality formally; Italy has said she would "refrain from the initiative of military operations," and authoritative Moscow sources have asserted the Soviet Union's intention to remain neutral.

Besides Panama and the United States, other American Western Hemisphere nations which have announced neutrality include Mexico, Uruguay, Guatemala, Brazil, Argentina, Chile, the Dominican Republic and Venezuela. Others seem likely to follow suit.

So far only four nations are involved as against nine in the first week of August, 1914.

Other differences between 1914 and 1939 have been noted. This time the belligerents have made extensive effort to justify and explain their entry into war. Today the public's information is immensely greater. New ideas are current. There is a conviction that war is not good enough as a way to settle national disputes and there is a revived vision of internationalism.

As the Christian Science Monitor has pointed out: "If there were a few people before 1914 who had an idea of a league of nations to enforce peace, there are millions today who look forward to some form of federation. These ideas will have to be included in the war aims of the nations—eventually their peace aims."

The world has come a long way in the last 25 years, It can be noted in the broadcasts of fast-moving events abroad Commentators are stating that there are vast differences in the march of today's events. Practically no excitement; quiet and assurance, soberness and determination; remarkably little hatred and fear!

1939 need not be a repetition of 1914 unless men choose to let it be so.

MUCH MONEY IS UNCLAIMED

In banks in New York state today there are 15,831 unclaimed savings deposits, accounts which have been dormant for fifteen years. No additions or withdrawals have been made in that time. Mostly the owners or their heirs are lost, although the banks regularly make earnest efforts to trace them.

The total sum involved is $1,712,217. That is a small fraction of the state's total of more than five billions, yet a tidy sum to be overlooked in these days.

Most of the accounts are small, but one of more than $8,000 suggests that carelessness about money is not limited to the people with only a few dollars in the bank.

Banks in other states have their share of unclaimed deposits. In fact, the United States treasury has a batch of them in the form of bonds—many of them Liberty bonds—on which interest is no longer paid and which were called for redemption some time ago.

If people who start bank accounts and buy bonds can be so forgetful, what vast amounts of loose money must be lost regularly by the less cautious who hide cash around the house or mislay it in clothing.

RECAPTURING THE DUST BOWL

In one of the dustiest sections of the dust bowl, the Oklahoma-Texas Panhandle, conservationists now point to a pleasant and spreading greenness. A farming region which seemed to be blowing away permanently has been recaptured.

This is the result of concerted action by national and state authorities, with the expert help of agricultural schools and farm experimental stations. New methods were tried and have worked. Farmers, about to abandon their acres a few years ago, attended classes and then carried out instructions given them.

They learned and practiced "contour plowing," using furrows to hold whatever rain falls and prevent down-hill running off of water. They built terraces to retain moisture and used "strip planting" to anchor the soil. That is the use of alternate rows of normal grains and soil-gripping plants which prevent the wind from carrying away whole fields of top soil.

They also co-operated in tree planting on a large scale. There are now thousands of new trees actually growing in that region, recently so nearly treeless. The trees provide a barrier against the wind and they help to hold moisture.

All this has been accomplished within five years. Work of the same sort is going on in other sections. It may be that we have learned our conservation lesson before it is too late.

The call from Europe to reservists is depleting the staffs of foreign restaurants at the New York Fair. This explanation is for the diner still waiting for his minute steak.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

QUITTING SCHOOL BAD

Last June a good many youths failed to graduate with their high school class or to win promotion. Far too many of them are not going back. While a very few of these will find employment, most will not, and those who will be employed will probably take the places of older or more deserving persons.

Of course, it is not at all easy for the youth who has failed to muster up courage to go back this fall to finish the job. Already stung with defeat, he might feel his inferiority more keenly if he went back. At least, he thinks so. But if he only used his reason, he would see that schoolmates and neighbors alike would esteem him far more highly if he returned to school and plodded on, with grim determination to finish the job, than if he ran away and accepted defeat, with no more "fight" in him. In a few years he will also think much more highly of himself, if he proves now that he's not a quitter.

Much Harder in Later Years

I wish I might sit down in a quiet place to reason with the boy who has about made up his mind not to return to high school this fall, when he knows he should: or with the girl in a like situation

I should try to get the boy to see that relatively few at school would know he is a "repeater," and that these soon would forget about it; that he may have this opportunity just this time; that even if he wished to return to school a few years later, it would be much harder than now.

I should try to help him see that an employer would be far more likely to give him a job if he finished school, and would be impressed with his perseverance if he kept on going to school in the face of great discouragements; that, moreover, he would be better prepared in later life to face big difficulties and overcome them, because of facing and overcoming this difficulty courageously; that he can't aford to run away just because the battle is severe.

Right now this youth is proving to himself and to the world the kind of character stuff he is made of. Yet, his parents may not be able to convince him that he should return to school this fall. Nevertheless, they might induce some other adult or youth to prevail upon him.

We wish that more schools were adapted to the youth who has failed, especially if book learning has been hard for him; also that more teachers understood such a youth, so they might help him at school to turn to what he can succeed in doing. If there were more of such understanding and guidance, there would be fewer failures.

Many of those who failed have been poor readers. It is not too late to help them to read better, if they can be induced to read at home from material far easier than that of high school level, and to read to very young children for their enjoyment. Whether the youth who failed last spring goes back to school or not, it should add vastly to his happiness and success in life to be able to read fairly well.

If your high school has already started its fall term, it should not be too late for you to go back and resume your studies. Go and see your principal for advice.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Suppose you had a boy of fourteen who in a fit of rage threw books he had in his hands across the floor. Would you command him then and there to pick up those books?

A. Not if I had the brains I was born with.

Q. Why does it happen that some girls of the freshman class of the high school have dates with senior boys, and some of the senior girls date up with college students?

A. Page Grandma Nature. A girl between 13 and 18 is from one to three years older biologically than a boy who has lived just as long as she has.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:15. Sun rises tomorrow 5:38.

A New York state man has been arrested 109 times in ten years and has never been convicted. His wife got him pinched most of the times and he got out to beat her again and get pinched again.

There are a great many people who are neutral about everything except Hitler.

THE VALUE OF A SMILE

It costs nothing, but creates much. It enriches those who receive without impoverishing those who give. It happens in a flash and the memory of it sometimes lasts forever. None are so rich they can get along without it, and none so poor but are richer for its benefits. It creates happiness in the home, fosters good will in business and is the countersign of friends. It is rest to the weary, daylight to the discouraged, sunshine to the sad and Nature's best antidote for trouble. Yet it cannot be bought, begged, borrowed or stolen, for it is something that is no earthly good to anyone till it is given away! And if at some time you meet someone who fails to give you a smile, may we ask you to give him one of your own. For nobody needs a smile so much as those who have none left to give.

"Your daughter is improving" said a music teacher to a father, "but somehow when she gets to the scales I have to watch her pretty closely."

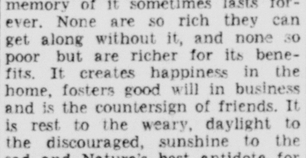

"She's just like her mother," said the father, "you know she is getting so fat she always wants to make the scales cheat for about 10 pounds when she weighs."

There's one bright spot in the gloom. When Hitler gets through our old pre-war maps of Europe will be accurate again.

A lot of queer things happen in newspaper offices. Sometimes when a racketeer from out of town gets a free notice he comes in and wants half a dozen papers for nothing.

The difference between genius and talent is that talent gets paid a salary.

Two birds were arguing yesterday and the only thing they could agree on was that they did not know what they were arguing about. So many are like that.

A good editor is one who has never made a mistake; who has never offended any one; who is always right; who can ride two horses at the same time he is straddling a fence with both ears to the ground; who always says the right thing at the right time: who always picks the right horse as well as the right politician to win; who never has to apologize; who has no enemies and who has worlds of prestige, with all classes, creeds and races. There has never been a good editor.

If Hitler does last through the war he will be about the most hated man in the world. Blood spillers are never popular.

One of my friends is no longer invited to dine with a neighbor of ours because at the table she broadcasts gossip within the hearing of the maids. This hostess has a theory that domestic employees are the most dangerous offenders so far as is concerned the sin of spreading scandal. And she realizes that if it is thus retold to the neighborhood maids as originating within her own home, she will become involved and will soon lose her popularity. I thoroughly agree with this wise woman. Scandal-mongers should do their transmitting only when out of hearing of the domestic staff, if at all.

Readers' Questions Answered

Dear Miss Markel: How should coffee be served at a dinner party? —Hostess.

Answer: The hostess at a formal dinner generally has the women guests go to the living room for coffee while the men remain at the table for their coffee and cigars.

At an informal dinner, she usually serves coffee at the table during or after the dessert course. If she prefers, she may have both the men and women go to the living room together for their coffee.

The hostess may pour it herself or have it brought in from the pantry on a serving tray on which there should be loaf sugar with tongs and cream for those who desire it.

Demi tasse cups should be used for this purpose.

What's What At A Glance

Roosevelt's Problem Is Simplified
Sentiment Is With Him In Emergency
Stewart Describes Situation In Story

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WITH THE war actually on, President Roosevelt's problem in a certain sense is somewhat simplified. There's a widespread national sentiment in favor of getting behind him regardless of inter-party politics and of intra-Democratic differences or opinion. Press comment reflects it. It's reflected also in the expressions of public men throughout the country. Alf M. Landon already is on record, as an outstanding Republican spokesman, in support of countrywide unity. Anti-New Deal Democrats likewise have hushed up noticeably.

If the war of nothing but nerves had strung along indefinitely White House difficulties undoubtedly would have continued to multiply, but a war of shot and shell is a different proposition.

Doctors can disagree as to the proper treatment of a merely nervous complaint, but when the patient breaks out into a violently dangerous and contagious disorder they haven't much choice but to concentrate jointly on the job of quarantining against him, as the president put it in that celebrated quarantine address of his quite a while ago.

The howl then was that the mere suggestion of a quarantine might precipitate an epidemic. Now, however, here's the epidemic. Critics may say the quarantine talk helped to bring it on. That's immaterial. At this stage of the game, a quarantine's essential anyway.

Allegorical Situation

Try another allegory.

Suppose a building owner has a fire trap next to his premises. He says so and wants it safeguarded against. The fire trap proprietor insists that it isn't necessary. They dispute about it like everything. Owner No. 1 has some stockholders who hold that the fire trap's no serious danger. They'd prefer to have their property's manager quit disturbing neighborly relations by his everlasting screeching.

Well, the fire trap bursts into flames ultimately.

In that event it's up to the adjoining owners to squirt water onto their structure, to keep it from catching. If they have some water left over it's permissible for them to squirt it on the blazing fire trap, but their essential consideration's to prevent the conflagration from spreading their way.

Possibly the No. 1 premises' stockholders contend that their boss stockholder helped to set the fire trap afire by looking cross-eyed at it. No matter. Their interest is to keep their place from catching fire.

Europe's On Fire

I like my allegory better than I liked President Roosevelt's quarantine allegory conceited as it may seem in me.

He foresaw a fire.

Today he's got it — not the fire, but one next door.

Statesmen like Senators Nye, Borah and Johnson reason that it could have been staved off. They had their way as to preventive measures and their precautions didn't work.

Around my vicinity in Washington we have fire inspection regularly. The idea is to prevent fires from breaking out. If they don't break out I think they've done a good job. If they do, I think they've bungled, but I still hope they'll be headed off before they get to my shack.

Maybe President Roosevelt's preliminary inspection has been faulty.

Or maybe it's been faulty because the premises to be inspected, refused to submit to inspection.

The latter's why.

Around my neighborhood an apartment house owner HAS to submit to inspection.

This isn't international. It's simply municipal.

Yeah, ships are inspected. But not international policies.

A third term? It looks like it to me.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

LONDON—England's only cardinal, Archbishop Arthur Cardinal Hinsley, urges victory prayers:

"However much one may be individually disposed to give our cheek to the smiter and our body to the persecutor, we cannot stand idly by and allow our neighbor to be enslaved, or ruthlessly done to death."

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt boosts aeronautical education:

"Few objectives are more important at the present time to the commerce of the United States and to the national defense than the continued progress of our aviation."

NEW YORK—Board of Education President James Marshall warns teachers against encouraging racial hatreds:

"Teachers must be on guard not to encourage hatred or unreasoning passion in the children whom they are training for a democratic civilization."

LONDON — Former Ambassador Hugh Gibson predicts Spain will remain neutral:

"The Spanish people have a strong taste for minding their own business."

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

If there was a terrific explosion every time a microbe killed a man, we would be shocked into an awareness of a world war that has taken more lives than any of the quarrels of our own species. J. D. Ratcliff, in his book, "Modern Miracle Men," published this week by Dodd, Mead and Company, compiles not only a fascinating "white book" of this continuing engagement, but flashes the latest bulletins from the front.

Here is a lucid account of the development of sulfanilamide and the all-but-final victory over Diplococcus, long featured in the rogues gallery of medicine.

"This insignificant-looking mankiller takes more lives than scarlet fever and typhoid fever, malaria, influenza, diabetes, meningitis and automobile accidents put together," writes Mr. Ratcliff. "It kills at a faster rate than the Civil War did and destroys Americans more rapidly than the highly efficient German army was able to during the nineteen months we were in the World War."

Hence there is nothing anti-climatic in Mr. Ratcliff's book, or a report on it here. Here is a war in which there is imposed no mandate of neutrality in thought, word or deed. You may cheer, if you feel like it, and I certainly did, as a tireless, patient, resourceful scientist saves a suffering baby and hands to the legions of life a new weapon against Death.

In fact, if under the shocking impact of the day's first page you feel your emotions getting out of hand, you may read this book with what the dramatic critics call 'sympathetic identification," declare yourself in and sluice out hatred and bewilderment in sharing vicariously the only sane war on the planet.

"Our side"—and by that we mean all men of good will—has been taking a terrific beating in the last twenty-five years. Apples of dust and Dead Sea fruit are the harvest of all our striving for peace, for a rational economy, for work, freedom, security and solvency. We have lost one decision after another. But here, at last, is a courier holding high the gonfalon of hope, bringing news of sweeping victories for "our side."

Mr. Ratcliff, scientifically trained at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is one of the best of the new generation of science reporters in newspapers, magazines and books. Newspaper accounts have given us the highlights of most of his chapters, but he marshals the whole story in a succint, highly readable, objective report of each fascinating engagement. In addition to the complete story of the new advance against pneumonia, there is the medical epic of the iron lung, which Frederick B. Snite, Jr., so gallantly occupies; engagements won against infantile paralysis, typhoid fever and a host of other outlaws of the sub-microscopic underworld, and the armies of murderous bacteria which, stepped up to mansize, would be no less than Martian monsters.

Then there is a fine, simply written, understandable and comprehensive chapter on vitamins, enabling you to get this all ship-shape in your mind, if it hasn't been quite clear in the past. There is a work-

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

CURIOUS LINE UP

The diplomatic world was very much surprised when it learned of the Non-aggression Pact that had been agreed to between Germany and Russia. Diplomats could not understand how Germany could have an agreement with Japan and Russia at the same time. The politicians of the world did not have any reason to be surprised at such an agreement. Nearly all of these agreements are entered into a Pickwickian way. There are always reservations in the minds of both signers to such agreements. And then, Russia and Germany have been friends at times and enemies at times. Czar Nicholas and Kaiser Wilhelm were cousins and each of them were cousins of the English King, and during the Great War they were separated very curiously.

The Germans, however, have never had a great deal of respect for the Russians. Their rulers, at least, did not. As far back as the days of Peter the Great and Catherine of Russia there was evidence of this. There was the occasion when Peter the Great and Catherine were visiting Frederick William I at Berlin. Federick was very much vexed at having to entertain these "boorish, uncouth barbarians," as he called them. He wrote in the general directory the following characteristic epistle:

"I shall allot six thousand thalers to be paid to the finance directory to defray their expenses from Memel to Wesel. I will not give a single pfennig more, but to the world you must give out that I spent forty thousand."

BRITISH TROOPS ARRIVE IN FRANCE OFFICIALS ADMIT

in the communique, belief persisted many quarters that British units actually had begun operations on the western front in company with the French.

Speeding to frustrate German submarine warfare, which is taking a daily toll of British shipping, the British government today announced that a widespread naval convoy system has been put into force.

To Protect British Ships

Its operation, the ministry of information conceded however, is not yet complete, since Britain's merchant fleet was scattered all over the world when the war broke out, and time is required to station warships along the major sea routes to protect every British merchantman.

Details of the convoys were kept secret, since any information would be of obvious assistance to the enemy.

For the first time the ministry announced no objection would be made to mention of the presence of the royal air force in France, providing no details concerning flying units or other information likely to aid the enemy was given out.

Confirmation that the R. A. F. has sent units to France quickly followed the first word released here that a British expeditionary force has joined French troops at the Rhine front.

Secrecy On Troop Movements

Their movements cloaked in the closest secrecy, several British divisions today were understood to be near the front lines in France, while some "Tommies" actually were fighting by the side of the French "Poilous."

With the utmost caution—for this war is being fought with far more care and much less dash than the World conflict of 1914—British authorities finally revealed for the first time today that major British units are in the trenches along Germany's westwall.

In the first week of the war, according to the Daily Express, which attributed its information to the "highest authority," the German army has lost 50,000 killed and 170,000 wounded.

Word that British troops were active on the front overshadowed all other news in the public's mind here, and ended the period of rumors current during the last few days regarding the extent of immediate British participation on the western front.

In striking contrast to World War days, when troops left to the accompaniment of cheering, speechmaking, and flag-waving, the present force was transported quietly, efficiently, with a minimum of fuss and without mishap.

French-British Navies In Hunt For Submarines

(International News Service)

PARIS, Sept. 12.—Close cooperation between the French and British navies to clear the seas of German submarines was revealed today by a high French official.

"We are collaborating absolutely with the British navy," he said. "We are proud that we are able to help kill the U-boat scourge.

"Our ships are helping to protect British commerce in the English Channel and in the Atlantic."

It was stated that French war vessels have scoured the Mediterranean from Gibraltar to Syria but have reported finding no hostile submarines.

France's new 35,000-ton battleships soon will be ready to join the battle cruisers Dunkerque and Strasbourg, which are said to be capable of out-running and outgunning the German pocket battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau.

Modern French submarines, many of them 500-ton craft, capable of long voyages and specially trained for submarine duels, now are reported at sea searching for German U-boats.

The last few years have brought many fine books in the field of simplified science and medicine for popular reading. It may seem like quibbling, but I have thought that some of the scientists have been too much given to the jocular and colloquial, too eager to achieve light, Sunday supplement journalese, so they wouldn't scare away readers. There isn't a hint of that in Mr. Ratcliff's book and there isn't a line that is stuffy or academic. It is a fine, straightaway, factual, objective handling of a story of planetary dimensions, interesting to the last comma. I recommend it to all who, like the late William James, seek "the moral equivalent of war."

Little Interest In Philadelphia Primary Battles

About Half Of Registered Vote Is Expected To Be Polled Today

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—Only one-half of Philadelphia's 1,047,056 registered voters were expected to turn out today to cast ballots in primary elections overshadowed by war clouds and made listless by lack of party fights.

Clear-cut victories for slated Democratic and Republican candidates seemed certain in voting for mayor, city council, row offices, four municipal judges and 10 magisterial posts. Fiery campaign drives and speeches were conspicuous by their absence in the past month.

Former Judge Robert E. Lamberton, who has demanded the city budget be balanced, had the inside track for the G. O. P. mayoralty nomination, while City Controller Robert C. White, who did no campaigning, was rated a sure winner on the Democratic slate.

Of five Republican candidates opposing Lamberton, only former Mayor J. Hampton Moore, seeking a third term, and Charles H. Grakelow offered appreciable competition.

REPORT GERMANS FORCED TO SHIFT TROOPS TO WEST

ports from Poland that six or seven "lost" Polish divisions trapped in the so-called "Poznan pocket" are now threatening the rear lines of German troops which have pushed beyond Lodz to the south of them.

Offsetting this was an unconfirmed report that a German motorized unit had crossed the Bug River in the vicinity of Malkinia, breaking into the triangle formed by Polish troops as their stand for the defense of Warsaw.

Evacuate Lille

Meanwhile, the population of the industrial French city of Lille dispersed to the countryside. Lille lies in northwest France on the Belgian border. Reason for the vacuation was not made known.

The calmness and brevity of the communique tended to confirm belief that the French, possibly actively aided now by British troops, have been busy cleaning up all advance posts in the No Man's Land between the Maginot and Siegfried lines and are now almost ready for a real offensive against the Siegfried line or westwall itself.

The French are consolidating their positions, moving up endless lines of reserve forces in preparation for the historic moment when the allied high command gives the signal for the opening of real hostilities.

Brilliant Advances

French advances between the Saar and Blisse rivers north of Saar-Reguimines on the Franco-German border were characterized as partirularly brilliant, bringing the French within striking distance of Saarbrucken, equally vital to the Germans as an industrial center and a petroleum supply center.

"Perhaps the moment is not far away," said Charles Morice, writing in the Petit Parisien, "when the Germans will have to move their line above Saarbrucken."

Well-informed sources, justifying the cautious nature of the Franco-British campaign against the impatient demands of those insisting upon a major offensive without delay, said that the operations carried forward thus far "are in line with the reputation of the French general staff, conceded in military circles to be the world's best."

Casualties At Minimum

Although hospital trains are arriving in Paris daily from the front, and wives and mothers are being notified steadily that their husbands and sons have died in combat, the casualties thus far, it was said, have been held to a "minimum," considering the nature of the task.

General Marie Gustav Gamelin, chief of staff, has uppermost in his mind the conservation of life. In this precept he is following the example of his World War predecessor, Marshal Henri Petain.

Prevention of losses is one of the chief and unending preoccupations of the general staff, not only because of natural humanitarian instincts, but for the very hard and practical reason that the French are facing a foe twice as strong numerically as they are.

British Liner Escapes Subs On Trip To U. S.

Left England Before War Was Declared—Made Trip Via Zig Zag Route

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—A plucky British sea captain who zig-zigged his liner safely past nine German submarines, one reportedly "off Nantucket," on an Atlantic crossing, docked his ship with its cargo of 441 passengers and $17,500,000 in gold, at New York today with the brief comment that "it was a nice trip."

Capt. Edgar Wallace Moulton, commanding the liner Arandora, was under orders and reluctant to talk but pins on a chart in his cabin, and other officers of the Arandora, told the story.

The pins marked the locations where submarines had been sighted and sub officers revealed that passengers "hadn't realized how close" the liner had come to submarines.

The Arandora left Southampton 48 hours before Britain declared war and after that her course was purposely erratic and far south of regular shipping lanes.

As the Arandora carefully picked her way along, her crew slapped gray paint on her funnels, superstructure and as much of the hull as they could reach. Portholes, windows and deck door glass was painted dark blue and doorways were shielded by canvas.

The ship was blacked out at night, smoking was prohibited on decks and life rafts were unshipped from the boat deck and held in readiness for instant use.

The gold shipment which the Arandora carried in her hold was consigned to the Federal Reserve bank by English and French banks.

Passengers on the Arandora included Robert Montgomery, Jr., 7, and Enid Montgomery, 5, children of the film star Robert Montgomery; and Mrs. Alan D. Wood, social registerite of Philadelphia.

Earth Humps Being Removed To Make Landing At Field Much Easier

A crew of workmen employed by Findley C. Wilson are busy today removing the high earth humps at the end of the runway nearest the Youngstown road. This will make landing at the field much easier and will permit the use of the earth runways to a greater extent.

When the airport work was stopped sometime ago, these humps had as yet not been removed. The humps provided quite a rough ride for the pilots between the hangars and the runways and therefore are being removed.

A power scraper and several other pieces of machinery are being used in the operation.

Tells War Views To Rotary Club

Dr. Pollock Fears 'Frightful Force' If Nazis Win Russians

A "frightful force" would be created in the world if the great Russian Bear gets completely into the hands of the German technicians, Dr. James K. Pollock, University of Michigan professor and native of New Castle, told Rotarians here at a luncheon in The Castleton yesterday.

The disturbance now, Dr. Pollock said, can properly be called a "Central European war" but it has strong possibilities of spreading into a world-wide conflict involving every section of the globe.

Condemns Sub Warfare

The speaker bitterly denounced the German chancellor's submarine warfare and said that "Hitler is taking up just where Germany left off in the last war—by sinking ships."

Urging quick repeal of the embargo provisions of the present neutrality act, which, he believes, throws our help to the German side, Dr. Pollock declared that America had "better get into the service of supply or find itself in the front line trenches."

"And we'd all rather be in the service of supply than in the trenches," Dr. Pollock added.

Touching upon Russia and Italy, the Michigan professor, who hurried back to Ann Arbor, Mich., at the close of Monday's luncheon, indicated that the Soviets are only in the war under its non-aggression pact with Germany "to get all she can out of it" and said Italy remains a somewhat of a question mark.

"It was significant that Mussolini said his country would remain neutral for the present," Dr. Pollock said.

Dr. Pollock was introduced yesterday by Carl E. Paisley, secretary of Rotary. Guests included State Senator William J. Eroe, Jr., several wives of Rotary members and others.

For several days Dr. and Mrs. Pollock and their two children, Ann and Robert, have been visiting with relatives here.

State Leads In Tanning Industry

Has Jumped To Forefront Over Massachusetts, Next In Line

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 12.—Pennsylvania's tanning industry, employing 10,000 persons earning $10,000,000 annually, has jumped the state to the forefront of the nation's leather-tanning states, according to Secretary of Commerce Richard P. Brown.

After running second to Massachusetts for a number of years, Brown said that Pennsylvania has "finally passed the Bay state" and now leads by more than 10 per cent. Approximately a fifth of all the leather being tanned in the United States today is coming from Pennsylvania tanneries, he added. Product value of the state's tanning industry in 1937 was $70,088,900, an increase of 12 per cent over 1936.

Library Getting Ready For Fourth Big Flower Show

Display Of Flowers To Be Open To Public Friday And Saturday

Two rooms on the basement floor of the public library building are being prepared for the fourth big flower show, to be held Friday and Saturday of this week. The show, sponsored by the Men's Garden club is open and free to the public.

Although sponsored by the men's group, exhibitors will be members of all garden clubs that are represented in the Lawrence County Garden Forum. Many beautiful flowers will be displayed and Miss Alice Sterling, librarian, believes that this will be the largest exhibit ever held in the library.

Hours for the exhibit have been set at 1 p. m. to 9 p. m. on Friday and from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Saturday. At all hours there will be representatives of the garden clubs on hand to answer questions and to handle the registrations.

According to Miss Sterling, visitors to the show, may use the outside stairway to the display rooms, found on the east side of the library building, or if they prefer entrance may be gained from the inside stairway.

WAR IN EUROPE KEEPS VALUABLE PAINTINGS IN U. S.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK.—Because of the international situation foreign museums which have loaned paintings to the Masterpieces of Art exhibition at the World's Fair have asked exhibit directors to keep the paintings until further instructions are sent.

Cabled requests to that effect have been received from directors of the Louvre, the National Gallery of London and the Rijksmuseum of Amsterdam.

Pictures in the art exhibit from these three museums represent $2,500,000 worth of art.

Perry T. Rathbone, director of the exhibit, has informed other leaders that no shipments will be made either now or at the close of the Fair, without specific directions.

"We have no objections to retaining custody of the foreign pictures as long as the owners may wish," he said.

County Commissioners announce that bids are to be taken shortly by the supervisors in Union, North Beaver and Shenango township, for the top dressing of roads. So far no contracts have been let. The bids must be on forms provided by the state.

In his charge to the grand jury at the opening of court, Judge W. Walter Braham called attention to conditions in Europe, and told the jury that they ought to be thankful that they live in a free country. The right of a grand jury is an emblem we have of a free country. Jurors can go behind closed doors, deliberate, and reach conclusions, with no one to coerce them or question their findings. We also have the blessings of free speech, and a free press, which are denied in dictator countries.

In the matter of gambling devices seized from J. E. McConnell and M. Louis Pagley, County Detective Paul A. Welsh, presented a petition to court, asking permission to destroy them. The petition was granted.

When the court and attorneys went over the argument list for this week, it was reported that the case of the Universal Sales Company against Paul W. Daytner, had been settled. The case was one involving a sheriff's interpleader.

The case of the City of New Castle against the County of Lawrence and Shenango township, involving certain taxation problems arising out of the acquisition of Cascade Park by the City of New Castle, will come up for argument this week. The arguments are to be on the evidence which was taken some time ago.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

Copyright 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

DOCTOR OUTLINES SPECIAL PROCEDURES IN HANDLING PREMATURE INFANTS

Yesterday we explained that a premature child needs different treatment from a full-time infant. For instance, it is often necessary to wait a few days before giving the child a bath, although in some cases we do give a bath in warm water to stimulate a baby who isn't breathing strongly enough. When a bath cannot be given without running the risk of chilling, it must not be given under any circumstances. Sometimes a partial bath will solve the problem. That is, the face, genitals, buttocks may be washed without removing the baby from his incubator and exposing him to chill. The quints didn't have a bath in water for months after they were born. They were bathed in warm oil.

Remember that a premature baby has practically no resistance to infection—that is one of the more dangerous aspects of prematurity. Apparently it is during the last couple of months within the mother that the baby absorbs the resistance to disease normal children are born with. Thus premature children have a great tendency to take colds; when they do, they have so little resistance that a fatal pneumonia is likely to develop. So you see the precautions that are necessary with a premature child.

It means that no one can be allowed to go near him or breathe into his incubator except the person who is caring for him. And this person, whether it be the mother or the nurse, should carefully wash her hands and put on a mask before handling him. Anyone with a cold should not be allowed near a baby, premature or normal!

The feeding of a premature child presents a real problem too. It is especially important that such a child have mother's milk; unfortunately, it is rare that the mother has milk at first. So it is necessary to get this precious milk from some other nursing mother or, failing that, from some hospital. The milk is most often fed to the baby through a medicine dropper, a few drops at a time. Feeding through a stomach tube is something that only a doctor should advise, and when he does the feeding should be administered by a trained nurse.

Your premature baby is likely to develop rickets so it is important that he be given cod liver oil or viosterol just as soon as possible. Orange juice is another food that all children need; a premature child needs it more urgently and it should be given him as early as two weeks after birth.

Parents of premature children shouldn't be discouraged by the prospect of all the care necessary to rear them. When I look at the quintuplets today I find it hard to realize that they were premature children. When the five of them come charging at me in the morning as I walk into the nursery, they actually bowl me over. So just think of the quintuplets and how they have "caught up" since the days when they were in incubators, getting their food through medicine droppers.

Canada Votes $100,000,000 War Chest To Aid England

To Rush Supplies To Motherland

German Consular Officials Are Handed Passports By Canada

DOMINION WILL SPEED WAR PLANS

(International News Service)

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.—Armed with a $100,000,000 war chest voted by the emergency parliament, Canada set about today to lend all possible aid to England in the war with Germany.

One of the first steps was expected to be the prompt establishment of a new ministry of munitions and supply whose task will be to send a steady stream of war materials flowing to the motherland.

The present national defense department is charged with the task of speeding up the internal defense of England's North American dominion and render it as invulnerable as posisble to attack from the outside.

Germans Given Passports

Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King was forced to put an end to parliamentary squabbling to bring passage of the $100,000,000 defense appropriation.

"Enemy planes may be here in a few days," he sharply warned the house, which had been engaging in extended debate.

A series of drastic rules against trading with the enemy was also announced by the prime minister. The new rules were more severe than those invoked in the last war and will bring all German property at once under control of the Canadian government.

German consular officials were given their passports and made immediate plans for quick departures.

Erie Annual Conference Will Be Invited To Meet In New Castle Next Year

Rev. William V. McLean, pastor of the First Methodist church, announced to the New Castle Ministerial Association in the First Presbyterian church Monday, that Erie annual conference of the Methodist church will be invited at its session in Jamestown, N. Y., this week, to convene in New Castle in 1940.

The ministers voted to co-operate in the effort to bring the conference to this city. Last year the local delegation intended to invite the conference here for 1939, but voluntarily withdrew the invitation in favor of Jamestown, upon learning that the Jamestown First Methodist church would be celebrating its 125th anniversary. Conference is convening there today and through the rest of the week.

Dr. Harold A. McCurdy presided over the meeting yesterday and at the conclusion turned over his presidential office to Rev. Thomas B. Shearer, who was unanimously elected. The meeting began at 10:30 with devotions led by Dr. F. S. Neigh. Dr. J. J. McIlvaine presented Rev. William Parsons, formerly of Pulaski, who is enroute to his home in Florida after traveling through the east. Dr. C. H. Heaton gave the law and order committee report. Rev. Shearer of the park committee, thanked all members who had taken services at Cascade Park this summer and all others who had co-operated. Dr. C. B. Wingerd gave the radio report, Rev. P. C. Pearson the library report and Dr. G. S. Bennett the nominating committee report. Marshall Matheny spoke concerning the Community Chest campaign and asked that there be appointed ten solicitors for each church and that on October 8 the morning services in the churches be in behalf of the Community Chest. The association agreed to do this as fas as is possible.

The report of Rev. R. B. Withers, treasurer, was followed by a report by Dr. Bennett of the athletic committee, who requested ministers who have games in the league to enforce the regulations regarding eligibility of players.

Retiring President McCurdy spoke with regret of the departure of Dr. Wingerd in the near future, and Dr. Wingerd replied in his usual gracious manner. The Central Presbyterian minister recently announced his acceptance of a pastorate in Florida.

Plans are being made by the clergy and the Ministers' Wives club to have a farewell reception later this month in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Wingerd. Arrangements are in charge of Rev. and Mrs. Shearer, who are the presidents of the two organizations.

The association also expressed regret at the departure from the city of Dr. George Knippel, retired Emanuel Evangelical pastor, and voted to send letters of commendation to both he and Dr. Wingerd when they reach their new fields of work and residence. Dr. Knippel is leaving this evening for Elliston, O.

Invitation to the New Year holiday services this week in Temple Israel was presented by Rabbi Norman Diamond. The closing prayer was given by Retiring President McCurdy. The association will meet every two weeks—next time on September 25, 10:30 a. m., First Presbyterian church.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 12.—Preparations for the opening on September 25 of the trial of David L. Lawrence, chairman of the Democratic state committee, are going forward, it was revealed here by opposing attorneys, despite rumors of a possible postponement. There have been reports that the trial may be postponed until after the general election, but nothing definite on this has transpired as yet.

District Attorney Carl B. Shelley Dauphin county said he would be prepared to open the trial of the former Earle administration cabinet official as scheduled. All witnesses for the trial have already been subpenaed, he said. Former Judge J. Dress Pannelli of Harrisburg, one of Lawrence's attorneys, said he had no knowledge of a postponement and that he was continuing with his preparations for the trial opening. Lawrence is charged with elections violations.

District Attorney Shelley, with no opposition in the Republican primary, is apparently headed for victory in the general election, Dauphin county being a confirmed Republican stronghold. Shelley, who is making his first bid for election, having been appointed to his present post, will be opposed in the November election by Paul A. Kunkel, uncle of State Senator George Kunkel. Shelley's opponent is a brother of the late Judge George Kunkel, who presided over the capitol graft cases of 30 years ago.

The state department of commerce is now engaged in distributing 50,000 copies of a printed booklet portraying the state's industrial advantages. The booklets are being distributed to businessmen throughout the country. The booklet points out that Pennsylvania holds first rank in the nation in 39 manufacturing industries.

Although the war in Europe has driven from the minds of Pennsylvania voters most of their interest in the coming election, political circles still hope to be able to discover when the vote is counted what change if any there has been in the state' political lineup since the last election . With next year a presidential year, both sides are eager to measure their strength.

Report Over 50 German Secret Agents Taken

France Reports Round-up Of German Agents; Captures Large Number

(International News Service)

PARIS, Sept. 12.—More than 50 German secret agents, including key men in an elaborate Nazi spy system, have been captured in Paris in a smashing roundup, a check-up revealed today. One of the leaders was caught trying to cross the frontier into Switzerland.

The radio detection service is producing excellent results, it is said, investigators working out of a secret headquarters having tracked down two Nazi agents using short wave radio sets in the last three days.

Authorities are confident that the German spy system here is broken because of the success of surprise attacks in the Saar fighting, indicating that the German army was uninformed of major French troop concentrations.

Search of the homes and offices of departed Nazi newspapermen has uncovered important documents relating to the distribution of propaganda and the spy system.

It is understood that the documents are being forwarded to London to assist the British authorities in their search for spies along the English coast.

Republicans Have Registration Lead Of 444,000 Votes

Lead Democrats By Enormous Majority Throughout State, Is Revealed

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 11.—Republicans led Democrats by nearly 444,000 in registration figures for today's primary elections throughout the state.

Unofficial estimates placed the total GOP registration at 2,568,293, with that of the Democrats set 2,124,909. The Republicans lead was 443,384.

Compared to last year's figures, the Republicans led by almost 300,000. In 1938, the GOP margin was 163,252, the figures reading:

Republicans, 2,372,528; Democrats, 2,209,276.

In last year's elections, the Republicans swept back into control of the state with selection of Arthur H. James as governor. The "Little New Deal" administration of former Gov. George H. Earle was repudiated at the polls after a four-year reign—the first Democratic reign in Pennsylvania in 44 years.

Backfield All Set With Veterans, Line Is Biggest Problem For Bridenbaugh

BUTLER HIGH TO PLAY HERE FRIDAY

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh is looking forward these days, but it isn't because of his backfield, it's the line that is bothering the local mentor the most. New Castle is going to have a veteran backfield, but a rather untried line. The first game of the year here Friday night against Butler High will give the coaches a good idea what the material looks like under fire.

At the moment the outlook is rather good—there is only one spot that bothers the mentors and that is the right tackle post where Dick Biddle, a former Washington high husky is trying to oust Dynamite Castrucci from his post. This is going to be a big task. The Mahoningtown boy is not as big as Biddle, but has a year's experience on the Edenburg boy and may get the starting nod Friday night.

Kulnis Is Back

At the left tackle John Kulnis is holding forth and this former Ben Franklin High lad is going to be a tower of strength to the line this year, having a year's experience. The guard jobs seem rather well set with Tom Gilboy at left guard and Piccirillo at the other right guard spot. Both boys saw a lot of service last year and will be valuable men to have on the line.

The center will be held down for the present at least by Ernie Adamo, the Mahoningtown boy, who alternated with Pelusak last year at the snapper-back spot, and this year has the job of starter if he shows enough stuff.

The ends will show one veteran Ralph Cenname at left end, and Pete Zarilla, a holdover from last year at the right end, the latter has not had the experience of Cenname, but so far this year has shown a determination to make the starting lineup and has worked hard. He will no doubt be at right end on Friday night.

Backfield Less A Problem

The backfield is not much of a problem, this year with such seasoned vets as Lauro, Roberts, Gender, Ciazza, Sowinski and Burris around, not to mention this lad Thomas of the West Side who for his size is no slouch either and is going to be heard from before the season is over. He is developing into a good punter as well as ball toter.

The big question mark is the line this year and if the front wall responds, it is safe to say that when the chips are counted in November in Class AA circles that New Castle High will be among those considered. The biggest stumbling blocks in Class AA this year are in our estimation—Johnstown and Washington.

Butler Wins Opener

Butler High opened its 1939 football season last night at Butler high field under the lights by trimming the fast Zelienople team 12 to 0. The Butler backfield consissing of Sandloop, Iannott, Smith and DeRose looked very good in the inaugural and there is hope in Butler that the Blue and Gold can upset the dope bucket this year and defeat the New Castle High "Red Hurricane."

Deplore Meeting Of Ambers And Henry Armstrong

Coming Welterweight Champion Fight Fails To Gain Much Praise From Commission

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—While sustaining Henry Armstrong as world welterweight champion, the National Boxing Association Monday branded the coming welterweight title fight between Armstrong and Lou Ambers as contrary to "the principles of good sportsmanship and the interests of boxing."

Armstrong recently lost his lightweight crown to Ambers and to clear up a dispute over whether Ambers was both lightweight and welterweight champion, the association adopted a resolution unanimously sustaining Armstrong as welterweight king.

Deplore Meeting

In a second resolution adopted at the meeting, the NBA deplored the coming meeting between Ambers and Armstrong, claiming it was "in variance with all principles of good sportsmanship and the interests of boxing."

The resolution set up a new NBA rule "that no champion in a lower class shall be permitted to contest for a championship in any other class until he has first met all the logical contenders in his class as designated by the NBA.

It meant in effect that the NBA believed Ambers ought to clean up on the lightweight division before stepping up to a welterweight fight.

Mickie Rubin Stops Sikora

Frankie Moran Loses Thrilling Battle To McKeesport Boxer

PROVIDENT AND COMO STAGE FAST BATTLE

After being jabbed off balance by a long left hand in the opening stanza Mickie Rubin of this city collected himself in the second round and sent a left hook to the stomach that knocked out Steve Sikora, exmember of the Panther boxing team in the Arena last night.

Sikora substituted for Johnny Hinish, A. M. A. senior champion of the A. A. U. who claimed he had injured a hand training Sunday. However, he failed to notify the Jefferson A. C. until last night. No doctor's certificate was received.

Under the circumstances there was nothing else to do than put the ex-collegian into the ring. He made things warm for Rubin the opening round but his body, frail about the midriff, failed to withstand the shock of the TNT left hook and Referee Tom Jones counted him out.

Frankie Moran, this city, and George Theus, McKeesport, 126, and both lefthanders, staged a great fight and Theus, a colored lad, deserved the decision which he received. However, it was such a thrill-creating fight that the loser also deserved plaudits for fighting gamely while losing.

The Joe Provident-Johnny Como, 147 pound fight was a humdinger. Each a champion in his respective district, fought hard and earnestly for three chapters with honors going to Como who had a slight edge. It was a contest that brought down a roar of cheers when finished. Como got the decision.

The Champion Smokey Robinson-Allen Reid lightweight fight did not materialize because Reid of Pittsburgh did not appear. A novice, Andy Rasky of Pittsburgh took his place, jumped around the ring considerably and was sent down with a right in the first chapter.

He took a count and while getting up Referee Tom Jones counted 10. The fans believed Rasky was off the floor. According to the referee's opinion he was not fully straightened up and might have been easy prey and perhaps hurt if hit again because Rasky was a beginner, stopped the fight.

The show was a financial success and as a result the Kiddies who are entertained by the Tigers club this Christmas will receive some nice gifts. It was one of the best crowds of recent shows and the battles kept the fans in good humor.

Other results:

Bolton Ford, Pittsburgh, defeated Phil Porto, Midland by technical knockout in second round; 140 pound class.

Russ Phillips, Oil City, defeated James Worthy, McKeesport; three rounds; 145 pound class.

Billy Reale, New Castle, won from Buddy Burke, Pittsburgh; three rounds; 155 pound class.

Sully Tonti, Midland, defeated Tampa Kid, McKeesport; three rounds; 155 pound class.

Smokey Robinson, National A. A. U. champion, Oil City, knocked out Andy Rasky, Pittsburgh; first round.

The referees were Tom McMahon and Tommy Jones. The judges were Phil Greer, Tommy Jones and Jimmie Steiner. The timekeepers Car Cialella and Billy Fazzone and announcer Charlie Walther.

Sports World Ramblings

Local briefs—Four of New Castle's 1939 gridiron foes bit the dust as King Football made its debut. Washington, annually one of the tougest opponents, was shaded by Carnegie, 2-0; Ambridge mowed down Erie Tech, 13-0; Grove City was on the short end of 27-0 count in its clash with Erie Strong, and Weirton sidetracked Monessen, 13-6 . . . Howard Currie, the ex-Shenango township high grid giant, is enrolled at Geneva college. Currie, a 215-pound lineman, should do well in the valley school.

Diamond shorts—Since the home club enjoys an edge of close to 10 per cent before the start of any clash, Cincinnati has a decided margin over the Cards, its nearest foe. From here in, the Reds play 14 tiffs on home soil. Three of these clashes, September 26, 27 and 28, will be against the Cards. This series may tell the tale . . . Freddy Fitzsimmons is nearing the end of a blazing trail. Come next season, the rotund Freddy will tuck away his glove in favor of a full-time coaching job with the Dodgers.

Mixing comedy with baseball—Is baseball destined to contain a bit of comedy in future years? Durjng the past season, John McCarthy, Terry Moore, Bud Hafey, Joe Marty, Myril Hoag and Jimmy Foxx, who are not listed as hurlers, marched to the mound. The reason? No one knows as yet. It strikes us as being a direct slap at a conscieutious pitcher who is having an off moment and can't find the winning combination. We say, leave the comical end of the game to Al Schact who has been doing a grand job all these years.

A dash of this and that—A diploma bombardment cost Army eight 1938 grid starters . . . Tony Galento is a 1-3 underdog in his coming fracas with Lou Nova, Friday . . . If nothing else, these all-star gridiron clashes are proving that a professional combination has a bit too much stuff for a collegiate eleven . . . Idle thought: If Freddy Apostoli comes close to his Pittsburgh showing in his coming clash with Ceferino Garcia, he doesn't have a chance to win.

Dodgers Become League Factor

Club That Will Have Lot To Say On Pennant Winners

ONLY TWO GAMES IN MAJORS MONDAY

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—In the midst of a baseball renaissance the likes of which they haven't known for years, the Brooklyn Dodgers currently are the sensations of the National league and possibly the club that will have the most to say about where the pennant will land ultimately—Cincinnati or St. Louis. The Dodgers can't be figured as very strong contenders themselves, although they should finish no worse than fourth and might wind up second, but what they do on their current road swing is going to be all important to the rest. It so happens they are on a winning streak which has reached six in a row as they carry the fight into the west.

It will be recalled that they halted the Cardinals a couple of weeks ago when the latter were about to overtake the Reds and they are hustling now as they never have before.

"That's the answer to our recent success," said General Manager Larry MacPhail today. "We're hustling. I wouldn't care to predict where we will finish, but we quite obviously are going to make a fight of it."

As a result of an off-day yesterday in the majors, only two games were played, the aforesaid Cardinal defeat at the hands of the Pirates, dropping the Cards 3½ games behind the Reds, and a 11 to 9 victory scored by the Boston Red Sox over the Philadelphia Athletics. This cut the New York Yankees' lead to a mere 17 games.

INDIAN PRINCES OFFERING AID TO MOTHER COUNTRY

(International News Service)

SIMLA, India, Sept. 12.—Many offers of aid in Britain's fight on Germany have been received from the princes of India, King-Emperor George said in a message read to the general legislature.

Presented by the Marquess of Linlithgow, viceroy, the message expressed deep satisfaction for the "widespread attachment of India" to Britain's cause

"Britain is not fighting for selfish ends," said the king, "but for a principle which is vital to the future of mankind."

Explanation of many things in few words: W. P. A. projects employ skilled workers at union pay because there are so few skilled workers on relief.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL.

A little suggestion to you folks who will in the very near future will be starting the furnace . . . if you burn coal, you no doubt remember in years gone past that when the first fire is started the furnace sometimes smokes . . . filling the house with unpleasant odor and a calling down by the wife . . . you can overcome this difficulty by burning plain paper in the furnace before you start to build a fire with paper, wood and coal. The pre-burning paper will heat up the smoke stack and start the draft to drawing properly . . . thus when you start the regular fire with coal, which gives off a dense smoke, the draft will carry it away.

Here is a little Cheerful Philosophy that one man follows . . . and we pass it along.

1. "Keep-a-Goin." Know that any obstacle whether of Health, Love, Money—Anything, will be overcome, IF—you "Keep-a-Goin'."
2. Tell one short funny story each day, to everyone you meet. But, above all, take it home to the evening meal. Thousands of unhappy homes have been restored by Laughter.
3. Never tell your troubles. NOBODY wishes to hear them. Only those who are compelled to—because of being dependent—will listen.
4. ALWAYS think of the "Other Fellow". Cultivate the habit of Kindliness, in Speech and Deed.
5. EVERY NIGHT, before retiring, look yourself straight in the eye and, thro' it, into your Mind and Heart and be able to Truthfully say: "I did at least one KINDLY act today, and not one UNFAIR or UNKIND one."

* * *

With cool damp weather getting here faster and faster the women folk are looking around the shops again. The merchants of our town inform me that some very wonderful stock has been purchased for the fall season . . . some as you all know is on hand now and more will come later. Shop in New Castle first is all we ask.

* * *

Not much has been said about the coming events for New Castle these past few weeks . . . the primaries have taken up too much thought . . . but by the time you have read this piece all will be over or about over and then we can settle down to some serious thoughts on how you and you can help New Castle become a better place in which to live.

Market Is Under Pressure Today

Profit-Taking Shows Up To Halt Sensational Rise, General Trend Is Lower

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The stock market's war boom was checked by a rush to take profits today.

After a display of strength at the opening in the wake of yesterday's sensational rise, the list began to retreat as selling pressure increased.

A number of stocks were able to buck the trend but the general trend was irregularly lower.

Trading was again on a huge scale. The ticker lagged most of the first hour and was 3 minutes behind at one time. Turnover in the first hour alone was 1,180,000 shares.

Some of the "war babies" proved vulnerable after the huge gains they had scored in recent sessions.

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—The price of soft drinks is sky high but gin is dirt cheap at a night spot near Nashville, Tennessee alcohol inspectors had reported today. The officers cited a woman to appear in general sessions court on a charge of bootlegging legally stamped liquor. They related she sold them a soft drink for 65 cents and at the same time gave them a half-pint of gin.

"Drafted" for Britain's War

Central Press Radiophoto

Children evacuated from London to protect them from air raids have been "drafted" into service by the British government. Boys and girls, most of whom had never seen a farm before, are pictured helping harvest Scotland's wheat. Photo, approved by censor, flashed by radio from London to New York.

Warsaw Apartment Wrecked in Air Raid

Cablephoto

Reminiscent of the pictures from France in 1914-1918, this photo flashed from London to New York by cable, shows the damage inflicted as German bombers dropped their eggs of destruction on a Warsaw apartment building. Stunned Poles stand in street staring at the wrecked building. Scenes like this soon became familiar, however, as the German army neared Poland's capital.

Poles Shoot Down a German Bomber

Cablephoto

This picture cleared the Allies' censors and was flashed by cable from London to New York so that the world might know that the beleaguered Poles are not entirely defenseless against the Nazi bombers who have attacked Warsaw. The wreckage is that of a German plane shot down as it was taking part in an aerial bombardment of the Polish capital.

No British Peace With Hitler Regime

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The British government last night flatly declined to sign any sort of peace with Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler but announced its willingness at any time to negotiate a "just and honorable settlement" with a German regime whose word can be trusted.

In a fiery statement repudiating the charge of Field Marshall Hermann Wilhelm Goering that Britain seeks to impose "another Versailles" upon Germany, the ministry of information said:

"It is considered in official circles that Goering's speech has revealed the bankruptcy of German policy.

"Hitler has made many promises to foreign countries and none of them has been kept. It is therefore not surprising that no confidence is felt in any assurance he may give and Britain therefore is justified in requiring that peace should be concluded with a German government whose word may be trusted."

"The German government has misled the German people, who were promised 'peace with honor.'

"They have not got peace because the German government has deliberately pursued a policy of violence which has made war inevitable. They have not got honor, because the world recognized the crudity and violence of the German government's charges against Poland.

"This sickening technique, as Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain called it, has become too familiar. There is no country in Europe which does not regard the present German government as pursuing a policy which is a menace to security and independence.

"Britain is fighting for a return to decency in international relations. Until this is secured no country is safe.

"Germany may say that she has no aims in the west, but the tale of limited German territorial ambitions has been told too often to inspire the slightest confidence.

"Britain does not desire another Versailles, as Herr Goering falsely alleged, nor the collapse of Germany, but a just and enduring peace with any honorable German government.

"As regards the economic situation, Goering's remarks can have brought little comfort to his hearers, who already even before the outbreak of war had been reduced to such meager rations.

"What is to be said of a government which frivolously embarks upon unnecessary war in economic conditions of a gravity which even Goering's optimism does not venture to conceal from an audience which is only too well aware of the facts.

Next Sunday will be the 152nd anniversary of the ratification of the Constitution of the United States. With world conditions such as they are, it is probable that many pastors of our churches will see fit to extol the liberties guaranteed to us by our constitution. During the week teachers will have an opportunity to impress upon their pupils, the fundamentals of our government. There are some very interesting stories connected with the framing of our constitution.

As we note the vast amount of gasoline used in running our automobiles and airplanes and the millions of gallons of oil and gasoline used for other purposes, it is pretty hard to realize that only 80 years have passed since the world was put on wheels by the golden liquid. There are men still living in Lawrence county who can remember when Col. Edward L. Drake brought in his first well at Titusville. Oil is at the bottom of our economy today, it is at the bottom of world power and military might.

Election returns show that there were some very close contests in the city and county. Sometime a candidate feels that he would rather be beaten by a large, than by a small majority. When he is beaten by a small majority he usually feels that if he had worked just a little

Aviation Forces Taking Much Larger Part In Western Front Battle

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Sept. 13.—French—possibly British—and German aviation forces today began taking a greatly enlarged part in the western front fighting as the French, under punishing German artillery and aerial attacks, pushed their way past six villages in the Saar sector.

French official communique No. 19, barely mentioning what was reported to be a terrific German artillery pounding said:

"During the night the enemy's artillery reaction continued. In the course of yesterday, aviation on both sides showed great activity."

Germany's tremendous artillery assault on the front between the Luxembourg border and Lauterbourg, where the Rhine river becomes the French-German frontier, was revealed in the previous communique:

"French progress continues on the front. Strong reaction by the enemy, notably his artillery, has taken place."

Athenia Victims Arrive On Land

More Than 200 American And Canadian Survivors Arrive At Halifax, N. S.

(International News Service)

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 13.—More than 200 American and Canadian survivors of the torpedoed Athenia thankfully set foot on North American soil today after a slow crossing of the North Atlantic aboard the American freighter, City of Flint, which picked up the survivors from the open sea.

Red-jacketed Royal Canadian Mounted Police snapped rigidly to attention as the first group—six of the most seriously injured—were removed from the coast guard cutters Campbell and Bibb which had effected transfer at sea of the injured from the freighter.

First to board the freighter was the American consul-general, Clinton E. MacEachran who, with Canadian authorities, had carefully mapped arrangements to rehabilitate all survivors, provide medical treatment and clothing where necessary, and facilitate rapid transit of the survivors to their homes.

BUDAPEST, Sept. 13—Slipping through a German trap just as its jaws were about to close on them, from four to six Polish army divisions have re-established contact with the main Polish army, and helped to recapture Lodz, the country's second city, broadcasts from Warsaw said today.

A report early today said German troops fell back one or two miles from Warsaw, while at Gdynia, port on the Baltic sea, a small Polish force was holding out against a German siege, hoping that Britain warships might come to their relief.

British Expeditionary Force Now Organized Behind France's Lines

By GEOFFREY COX
(Special Correspondent Of International News Service and the London Daily Express)

PARIS, Sept. 13.—The British expeditionary force has now been gathered and organized behind France's eastern defenses.

The men who fought in the last war heard again today the incessant whining and roar of German heavy shells as the enemy endeavored in vain to expel advanced French troops from the Saar.

This is believed now to be impossible as French "fortress regiments" especially created for this work are superior in firing power to any German troops.

French engineers are building powerful fortifications on the Saar which, are entirely dominated by British and French guns. British Tommies see British airplanes along with the French flying east overhead to harry German reinforcements and counter-attackers.

Today's French communique notes "continuation of enemy reaction to our advance." British aviation is showing great activity.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—American Ambassador Anthony J. Drexel Biddle today charged that Germany has resorted to the bombing of "defenseless open villages in Poland."

Biddle, in two diplomatic dispatches to the state department, asserted that German bombers have also blasted "a hospital train, plainly marked with a red cross on the roof."

Germany, if Biddle's charges are true, has disregarded a plea of President Roosevelt, who asked on the outbreak of the war that all belligerent powers refrain from bombing defenseless civilian populations.

Other bombing attacks, Biddle declared, have been carried out on civilian structures, one of which was a sanitarium in which ten children were killed.

Hitler Orders Civilian Resistance Be Crushed

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—In retaliation for the sniping warfare launched by Polish civilians against the German army in occupied areas, Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler today ordered the German artillery and air force into action against towns and villages of Poland to crush civilian resistance by every possible means.

Berlin, Sept. 13.—In unrelenting pursuit of a Polish army which the Germans say is virtually shattered, Reich forces today reported they closed in on Warsaw, took two more cities in the southwest, and smashed up to the outskirts of Lemberg (Lwow.)

Authoritative military quarters today affirmed:

"The iron ring around Warsaw is closing rapidly. East Prussian troops who have been pushing southward crossed the road leading from Warsaw to Siedice, east of the capital.

"German motorized troops in the south, on the heels of the fast-retreating Poles, continued their drive through Galicia, reached the outskirts of Lemberg.

Claim Polish Army Shattered

"The main body captured Sambor and Krakowiec." Sambor is the capital of Polish Ukrainia, 40 miles southwest of Lwow.

That the flower of the Polish army has been practically shattered since the war began was indicated in a survey of the battle fronts.

German quarters say that at least 20 of Poland's best divisions have been wiped out or their members taken prisoner.

This would leave, it was asserted, a maximum of 50 divisions, and

Blame German Sub For Sinking British Steamer

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 13.—Thankful but angry survivors of the sinking of the Liner Athenia flatly blamed the disaster on a German U-boat today as the rescue ship City of Flint steamed into this port carrying 223 of those who lived to tell the story.

Even before the boat docked and while it was still many yards from its wharf, Jean Dallare of Hamilton, Ont., climbed up on the bridge rail to shout:

"It was a German sub and they torpedoed us and then shelled us to bring down the radio."

Other survivors nodded approval of that terse report and a roar went up from the waiting crowd—a roar of anger.

Report Bremen Is In Italian Port

Report States German Luxury Liner Changed Her Nationality In Mid-Atlantic

(International News Service)

LONDON, Sept. 13—Information has been received by Rotterdam newspapers that the North German Lloyd Liner Bremen, recently reported at a seaport in North Russia, "changed her nationality from German to Italian in mid Atlantic and headed for an Italian port," the British ministry of information announced for publication today. No further details were given.

It could not be established immediately whether the ministry was passing on old information invalidated by later developments, or whether it was implying that Italy had given neutral refuge to the luxury liner after she escaped British warships in the Atlantic.

Repeal Of Embargo On Arms Shipments And Other Moves To Be Considered

Conference In Washington On September 20 Is Announced By President

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—President Roosevelt today called congress into extraordinary session to consider repeal of the embargo on shipment of U. S. arms to warring nations of Europe and other emergencies confronting the country.

By proclamation, the president set Sept. 21 as the date for reassembling of the national legislature.

Mr. Roosevelt, in his proclamation, declared that an "extraordinary occasion" requires the presence of congress in the capital, giving the legislators only eight days to wind up their affairs and return to their duties.

At the same time, the president dispatched telegrams to Democratic and Republican leaders of both senate and house asking that they get to Washington on Wednesday Sept. 20 if possible for an "informal conference" at the White House."

The presidential proclamation made no mention of Mr. Roosevelt's desire to have the neutrality law revised. Couched in formal language, it merely directed the legislators to be on hand "to receive such communications as may be made by the executive."

Britain Serves Warning On Hitler

Warns On Threat To Bomb Towns

Opposition To German Threats Is Voiced In House Of Commons

CONTRADICTION TO POLICY IS SEEN

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 13.—The British government warned Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler today that any aerial or artillery bombardment of open cities and towns in Poland will compel Britain "to take such action as it deems appropriate."

This threat of reprisals against such German measures to crush civilian resistance in Poland was voiced in the house of lords by Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax as Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain delivered his second report on the state of Europe's new war to the house of commons.

"His majesty's government," said Lord Halifax, "must hold themselves completely free, if restraint is not observed by their opponents, to take such action as they deem appropriate."

Referring to a report that Germany intends to bomb and shell open towns in Poland to crush the resistance of the civilian population, he declared:

"If true, this is a direct contradiction of the statement of purpose expressed by Hitler to the Reichstag when he disclaimed any desire to make war on women and children.

"There can be no sort of justification for indiscriminate bombardment, whether from the sea or air, on the civilian population."

ish regiments now in France compares favorably with that of 1914.

Meanwhile, the French press stressed the importance of yesterday's supreme council meeting as demonstrating cooperation between military and political leaders.

"This close union with the British empire is a fatal blow for Germany," said the Pair Soir.

"The economic power of the British dominions has developed enormously since 1914 and is always growing. Empire factories are working night and day in full security to build up our forces. Germany must reckon with them."

The hundreds of British staff officers visible in Paris a few days ago have now diminished in number. Many have gone eastward in the first British cars seen in the country side since the World War.

Motorized British troops are also being seen in French villages. Always there are little girls on hand to throw flowers in their path, even though the objects of the accolade are camouflaged tanks and machine-gun carriers.

Brinton, prominent young Republican, ran a remarkably fast race for the prothonotary nomination, finishing second to Mr. Edgar with a total of 4855. James H. Elmore was third with a total of 3143 and Percy B. Walls fourth with 2090 votes.

Wimer Is Winner

For county treasurer, Earl R. Wimer, former city controller of New Castle ran a runaway race. He polled the amazing total of 9238 votes as compared to 3682 for Thomas C. Edmunds and 3358 for Frank S. Nessle.

For coroner Dr. T. F. Nugent, a candidate in other years, was successful this time, polling 5936 votes. Second to him was Charles E. Patterson with 5276 votes. Charles E. Allen polled 4166 votes.

For county controller Frank W. Hill was unopposed and no record was kept of his total. Whatever was polled he got about 99 per cent of them, which seems fair enough.

In spite of the increased German resistance, the French were progressing slowly and cautiously in a wide encircling movement which is expected soon to result in the capture of Saarbrucken.

Scores of hamlets already have fallen into French hands, or their buildings have been destroyed by retreating Germans.

Among the German villages which, it was understood, the French occupied were Kleinsbitterdorf, Bolchen-Bliesmengen, Rheinheim, Walsheim, Mendelsheim and Brenchelbach.

The German counter-attack mentioned in communiques three days ago resulted in heavy losses for the Reich troops, it was asserted here, while the French were not budged from their positions.

In street paving operations there is a steel frame, or grader, the width of the paving stretch, which is moved along, so that there will be a uniformly level surface. This grader is moved by man power, the ropes being dragged by a number of men. The grader was being used on a local street the other day when a citizen happened along, looked at the men pulling the grader, and remarked: "Isn't it nice to see Republicans and Democrats all pulling together, for once."

Most of the boxes seen along the roads of Lawrence county are of the approved type, but there are still a few that are not much credit to the scenery. One of the suggestions that will meet with the approval of the traveling public is that box owners have their names printed plainly on the boxes. This not only helps the mail carrier, but it is a satisfaction to motorists to know who lives in a house, even if they do not wish to stop.

Pa Newc notes that many of our young people are going back to college and some are starting for the first time. It is during college years that young people, if they have not already done so, should determine their future courses in life. Too many go through college with no definite end in view, instead of making their college course a means to an end. As a rule young folks lean toward the professions, which is one reason why most of them are overcrowded. The butcher, the baker, the merchant, are just as necessary to a well proportioned society as the physician, dentist or lawyer. It is vastly better to be a good mechanic, able to earn a living, than to be in a profession that is overcrowded.

HITLER ORDERS RESISTANCE CRUSHED

these, too, have been badly shaken or even partially disorganized. (A division consists of 10,000 to 15,000 men.)

Three Polish divisions have been trapped in the corridor, and six more in the long Polish salient north of Lodz, it was stated.

Four were pocketed at Radom, and another seven or more were eliminated in the fighting in other sectors.

Huge quantities of arms and munitions were captured, and nearly all Poland's armament factories are in German hands.

On the other hand, the Germans say they have nearly 100 divisions, splendidly equipped, in Poland, under the best of leadership.

Turning to the economic phases of the war, Germany made it clear that she expects no interference by the British blockade of her trade with the neutral Oslo powers—Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg, Denmark, Sweden, Norway and Finland.

the Warsaw front, while the Polish army of Poznan, fighting its way through a German trap reestablished contact with the main army and assisted in the recapture of Lodz.

Neutral observers on the Polish battle front, on the other hand, pictured disastrous reverses for the Poles. At least 20 of the best Polish divisions have been wiped out in fighting or taken prisoner, according to these reports.

Poland has left, therefore, only about 50 divisions to carry on the war—and those were said to be badly shaken in the struggle which so far has lasted less than two weeks.

Warsaw itself is practically surrounded, by two fingers of the German drive moved down from the northeast and swung around from the southwest.

Close School Director Race

Probably because of the high type of men offering themselves for nomination for school director the race was a close one. Only one candidate was apart from the field in the totals, Robert L. Preston a present director who was high with 5788 votes. Following him was Griff Thomas also a director at the present time who polled 5062 votes. C. L. Shira was third with 4734 votes and was closely chased by Leslie Brindle who polled 4548 votes. V. O. Potter finished in fifth place with 4493 votes. All of the candidates polled remarkable votes and defeat in this group was anything but a disgrace.

Alderman Renamed

In the race for alderman two wards held their quadrennial confirmation service. Anderman O. H. P. Green of the Third Ward was unopposed for the Republican nomination and the Democrats made it unanimouse by writing in his name. He has served 35 years as alderman of his ward.

The Fourth ward voters did the same thing for Alderman L. C. Mantz who has served about a quarter of a century. He was unopposed for the Republican nomination and the Democrats also nominated him by writing in his name. The constables of each ward, Jess Kennedy of the Third and Rollow B. Morrow of the Fourth were without opposition.

Alderman James C. Brice of the First Ward was nominated again without any difficulty.

Perhaps the closest race in the city was that for constable in the Fifth Ward. Constable Joseph Dukes, polling 396 votes was defeated by Nick DeCarbo, former football star who polled 400 votes. Nick took the ball on downs on the four yard line.

Judge Soffel Makes Good Race

Detailed Count Of Lawrence County Vote Not As Yet Made, However

Due to the pressure attending the compiling of a complete set of returns for city and county candidates on both Republican and Democratic tickets in Tuesday's primary, The News did not compile the votes for justice of the state supreme court and judges of the superior court.

A cursory check of the state supreme court results show a fairly close race between Judge Sara Soffel and Judge Marion D. Patterson on the Republican ticket, with Dean Herbert Funk Goodrich winning over Judge Soffel on the Democratic ticket.

For superior court judge, Judges William H. Keller, William E. Hirt and Thomas J. Baldridge took the places with Arthur C. Dale finishing outside the charmed circle, on the Republican ticket.

On the Democratic ticket there were but three candidates for the three places, Judge William H. Keller, J. Harold Flannery and Edward Jackson Thompson.

Ancient Clock Keeps Good Time

(International News Service)

LEBANON, O., Sept. 13.—A clock made in 1862 is in the possession of George E. Coddington, who reports that despite a 20-year period of inactivity the clock keeps perfect time.

Coddington, reporting the history of the timepiece, said it was rescued from a fire years ago. During the 1913 flood, he related, it almost met a watery grave as high water nearly covered its face on the mantlepiece. A short time later the clock was placed in storage for a period of 20 years.

Early in 1939, the clock was taken from storage and placed in use at Coddington's home. It keeps perfect time, Coddington said.

C. D. of A. News

This week's C. D. of A. meeting was a very interesting one and largely attended. The Study club, which meets weekly in the newly furnished clubroom at St. Joseph's church, has 14 enthusiastic members.

The above activities together with three more seasonable dances, under the sponsorship of the younger members of the court, will keep all the active members fully occupied for the next 12 months.

JUST A STUDY IN CONTRASTS

THE fact that the American is an outspoken personage who is not bound by censorship or by intimidation may account for some of the criticism directed by him against his own country. Up until a few weeks ago one could hear naive travelers plaintively lamenting the lack of culture in the United States and wistfully wishing that the American men or women could be more like the natives of France, England or Spain.

A little thing like a war changes this feeling. With the booming of the guns the country is again embraced by its nationals and the Statue of Liberty becomes the most beautiful thing in the world. And overnight, we learn with not a little pride that the United States is not such a bad country after all, culture or no culture.

A man speaking over the radio from Berlin referred to this country as lucky America . We wonder if Americans realize how lucky they have been. True, we were dragged into the last war, but the fact remains that we have been lucky in the sense that we have not been continuously menaced by the power politics of the big nations, we have not been restricted and held in abject despair by dictators or tyrants, we have not been intimidated by the men of destiny who look upon human life as they would look upon chips in a poker game, something to throw away on a gamble.

In joyous mood, Americans went to Europe this Summer, ignoring the pleas of the State Department to stay away from a continent which was fast heading toward war. These innocent voyagers smiled. There couldn't be a war. They had too much to lose and too little to gain by declaring hostilities. And besides, they were such cultured people. Now the innocents abroad are returning home, and right glad they are to be home.

Having displayed a real interest in this country by returning home as quickly as they could, these persons and all the other persons who are making their living in America should now show by deed and action how glad they are to be nationals of the United States. Let us try to forget the picture of despair and horror in Europe as much as possible and settle down to a solution of our problems. And let us never forget for a moment that we must remain neutral to keep alive.

AMERICA'S NEIGHBOR ENTERS THE WAR

When their next-door neighbor and best customer, Canada, enlists in the European war, the American people, regardless of where individual sympathies may lie, cannot remain unmoved. For the Dominion's role as a belligerent is bound to touch their lives at many points.

As an independent nation, Canada had the right to remain neutral. Early in the year her Premier proclaimed her freedom of action.

At the beginning of the World War, which Canada automatically entered, our Government's relations with the Dominion were somewhat different from what they must now be. America's neutrality was covered exclusively by international law, which was reaffirmed recently by President Roosevelt in the first of his two proclamations.

But in addition there is now in effect special domestic legislation designed for use when war occurs in any part of the world. Until Canada declared war on Sunday, our manufacturers were free to ship arms, ammunition and implements of warfare to that country. Airplanes are in this category.

But after Canada became a belligerent our embargo immediately applied to the Dominion, and it will remain until or unless the law is changed. However, this so-called neutrality law permits the sale to belligerents of 90 per cent. of commodities regarded as essential in the waging of warfare.

In the last fiscal year Canadian imports totaled $658,000,000, of which $412,000,000 came from the United States. The remainder had to be transported by sea. Canada imported only $115,000,000 from the United Kingdom.

The Dominion lately has been stepping up her imports of our anthracite, so important to Pennsylvania. She will also require coke, steel, scrap iron and many other products.

The ease of transportation across the 3,000-mile unarmed border makes it necessary for our authorities to be doubly vigilant in enforcing the embargo so long as it is the law. There are many potential complications.

The remoteness of the possibility of an invasion of Canada by German forces, which would call for consideration of the bearing of the Monroe Doctrine, makes this an academic question, especially in the light of immediate and practical problems arising from the Dominion's status as a belligerent at our doorstep.

Canada's action renders it all the more imperative to clarify and strengthen existing legislation, so that it will spell real neutrality and help to safeguard the United States from the disaster of war.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

MUSIC FESTIVAL TO LIGHTEN GLOOM

The week of free musical offerings, to be observed in New York City beginning October 1, is frankly intended to allay the public sorrow and anxiety felt in this country over war conditions abroad.

Music is not needed to soothe any savage breast or beasts in the United States, and it is doubtful if the merriest of tunes would have much effect just now on some men in Europe who are demonstrating at least something akin to savagery. Yet the efficiency of music in strengthening morale, amply evidenced two decades ago during our community sings, can not be denied.

The American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, which will provide New York's music festival, is thus celebrating its 25th anniversary as a protective organization for creative artists.

Such a carnival of music would be important and stimulating at any time. Just now, with our nation inevitably dispirited by Europe's relapse into warfare, New York's musical festival, without charge to the public, is a helpful suggestion to other communities.

Hint to statesmen: Cash can win support for a bad idea, but the idea hasn't a friend left when the cash plays out.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SOLVING CRIME BEFORE CRIB

FROM MINNESOTA I received this letter:

"Dear Dr. Myers—It is about time the public listen to your sound ideas about the crime problem. Of course, the remedy has to start at the crib and in many cases earlier yet—with the germ plasm, with eugenics. From a degenerate stock one cannot expect well-behaved offspring. And when the early home environment is morally poor, what can you expect?

"Children need the love, the tenderness of their parents, just as much as they need food and shelter; but there is no love, no respect, none of the better things in a disrupted home. Seeing the parents drunk, immoral, quarrelling most of the time and planning crime, is certainly not a healthful home environment . . .

"One of the troubles in modern homes is that some parents are strangers to each other; that there is no real affection, only a search for support. When children are not wanted or when one is made a favorite over the others, the effect is very bad . . .

Children Greatest Sufferers

"In any form of marital maladjustment, children are the innocent and greatest sufferers. This fact parents should consider, so as to try to make the best out of marriage for the sake of their children . . .

"There is rarely the right kind of parent-child relationship when the child does not come from a love match. Love is really the best cement to bind the members of a family together. Love is much stronger than all psychology; even stronger than the well-meant words of the clergyman. Love is also the best tonic. It makes people strong for enduring the strain and stress of everyday life. Love is the best adjuster; spontaneously it takes care of almost everything. But real love is not found abundantly, and that is where so much woe comes in."

Great Sermons From Doctors

The foregoing is not from a preacher but from a country doctor. What great sermons some family doctors preach, face to face with their patients, day after day! They are in a position to be heard thoughtfully. I have often thought of the great good the family doctor can do apart from drugs and surgery; and many of them do dispense such good. I am reminded here of what Charles Darwin's father (a family doctor) told Charles to the effect that most of a doctor's patients need more than medical advice.

If you are interested in such problems as obedience and discipline in the child, and all sorts of other human problems related to his unbringing, write me in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it, and let me send you a list of books and pamphlets bearing on these matters.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. What do you think of correspondence courses?

A. Some are excellent for those who have the self-discipline to do the lessons alone. As a rule, however, no course by mail can be as good as a similar course with a good teacher in a night school. Before you sign up for any home study course you should ascertain the rating and reliability of the correspondence school by writing the U. S. Office of Education, Washington, D. C.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

ONE SUCCESSFUL EXHIBITION

The Fair business in the United States is not what it used to be. The Columbian Exposition in Chicago in 1893 was a magnificent affair. All of the Expositions that have been staged in this country since that time have only been imitations; consequently the people have not become particularly enthusiastic over them.

Both New York and San Francisco have spent a lot of money trying to make their Expositions worth while, but the fact still remains that they do not draw the crowds.

Miss Elizabeth Sowersby, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Sowersby, of this city, was a drawing card at two Fairs, before she came to the New York World's Fair. Her portrayal of Queen Elizabeth has always made a hit and she, in her stunt, is one of the successful shows of the New York Fair today.

Her "Queen Elizabeth" is said to be packing the visitors in at six shows a day, including three eating acts at night. In addition to this she does her usual publicity acts in other parts of the Fair. Elizabeth is a very busy person.

Her unfailing humor and keen wit are furnishing many treasured incidents for visitors. Among these incidents is one in which she accompanied Grover Whalen and other officials to start a water-taxi service in the Florida building. Pictures were made including one of the Queen picking an orange.

"Don't look at the orange so scornfully," pleaded the photographer.

Replied the queen: "Well, how the dickens do you expect a California gal to look at a Florida orange?" (Miss Sowersby has been living in California so long that she seems to have forgotten New Castle.)

Despite the fact that New York papers have panned the Fair and most of the concessions, including "Merrie England," the "Queen" has had columns of laudatory space.

It is claimed that the worst thing that can happen to a movie actor is for him to become baldheaded. We always thought staying away from his pictures was the worst thing that could happen to him.

When a man builds a summer cottage on the shores of a lake or river he always figures on making it to take care of his family. However, the man who does not figure on having to take care of a lot of visitors is making a mistake. The automobile can get people a long distance to arrive at meal time. We don't have a cottage.

Mrs. Hum can always tell the mood Hi is in by the way he treats the horses when he drives out of the lane.

THE COMMUNITY IS NEVER INSURED

Usually the first question that arises in the mind after a big fire is "Was the building insured?" And that is an important consideration, because insurance helps to mitigate for the individual owner of the destroyed building the loss sustained by fire. But many persons have unconsciously developed a mental attitude toward insurance which seems to say, "O well, if the building was covered by insurance there is no real harm done."

And that point of view is not only mistaken but may be dangerous. There is never a fire without loss to the full amount of the value of of the building burned, no matter how high the insurance on the building may be.

The community is never insured against fire.

The practical value of all this consists in the fact that a large proportion of fires that annually occur in any city can be prevented. It is worth while, therefore, for every citizen to get the idea firmly in mind that a community is never insured against fire. If this idea once gets itself firmly established the chances are that people will almost unconsciously take greater pains to prevent fires.

Readers' Questions Answered

Dear Miss Markel: Please answer the following: (1) Should consomme be drunk from the cup in which it is served or taken with the spoon? (2) When eating vegetables should one hold the folk prongs up or down? (3) Is it permissible to eat the lettuce upon which a salad or an appetizer is served?—B. W.

Answers: (1) The spoon should be used to take the first few spoonfuls and the remainder should be drunk from the cup. (2) The prongs should be held up when eating vegetables and either up or down when eating meat. (3) One may do as one pleases in this respect. Eat it or leave it, as one chooses.

TSMS BOILED DOWN

A student of modern trends in political economy reaches the following brief conclusions on governments:

Socialism—You have two cows you give one to your neighbor.

Communism—You have two cows, you give both to the government: the government gives you the milk.

Fascism—You keep the cows, give the milk to the government and the government sells it back to you.

Nazism—You have two cows, the government shoots you and takes the cows.

New Dealism—The government shoots one cow, milks the other and pours the milk down the sewer.

Capitalism—You sell one cow and buy a bull.—Handed in.

The last I remember, Bill, is when you paid the check.

War Will End Tourist Business
Passports Will Be Hard To Get
Stewart Recalls World War Days

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

Washington, Sept. 13.—SHORTLY BEFORE the last war (the 1914-'18 affair) I wanted to take a trip from London to Constantinople (now Istanbul).

So I dropped in at the U. S. embassy to ask if I needed a passport.

"Yes, sir," said First Secretary William Phillips (our present ambassador in Rome), "you do. It seems hard to believe in this enlightened age, but there still remain in the world two such benighted countries that you have to have a passport to travel in 'em—Russia and Turkey."

However, I got my passport without any trouble. Today, if I wanted to visit as semi-civilized a city as London, I not only would have to have a passport; the probabilities are that I couldn't get one.

I agree that an American should not travel into a danger zone, and then, if he's torpedoed, call on 130,000,000 of the rest of us to avenge him. All the same, the change just goes to show what the last war did for the world. After the current one the chances are that it'll take a passport to journey from township to township. It should knock the tar out of touristism.

Tolerant Britain

I recall another case.

This likewise was in the pre-1914-'18 war era. I knew a Spanish anarchist then—a most lovable individual, if you didn't happen to be a plutocrat. He'd been chased out of Spain and was an exile in Paris. The French government took a notion to deport him. It didn't send him back to Spain, where he'd have faced a firing squad, but it shipped him to Dover.

On his arrival the British port authorities inquired, "How much

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT
Copyright, 1939, by The Baltimore Sun

Untimely Politics

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.

THE fears expressed that Congress, which last session revolted against the President, if called into special session for the vital purpose of revising the Neutrality Act would continue recalcitrant, in the judgment of those best qualified to speak, are not well founded.

ON the contrary, there is every reason to believe that in the matter of lifting the embargo Congress will support Mr. Roosevelt with slight exhibition of factionalism or partisanship. Of course, there will be raised in loud protest the voices of the extreme isolationist group, but no one expects these to prevail and the notion that their wailing will be taken as indicative of the feeling of the American people—or even a large minority of them—is simply not sound.

THE fact is that the lifting of the embargo urged by the President has been urged by many influential Republican leaders, including Mr. Hoover, ex-Secretary of State Stimson, Senator Robert Taft, Mr. William R. Castle, Representative James W. Wadsworth. It is also true that leading anti-New Deal Democrats such as Senators Glass and Byrd, of Virginia, and Tydings, of Maryland, favored it, along with a good many newspapers and critics who oppose the New Deal domestic policies and have no faith in Mr. Roosevelt personally.

WHEN TO this is added the sentiment among the people, greatly enhanced by the outbreak of war, that in a time of crisis the President's foreign policy is entitled to support, the apprehensions that Congress will behave in a way to notify the warring nations that there is no such thing as national unity here seem unjustified and absurd. Two reasons were advanced for failure of Mr. Roosevelt to get through his neutrality program last time. One was that besides lifting the embargo, he sought more personal power than seemed to many justified or necessary. The other was because at the time he made his demand a campaign for a third term was being waged in his interests and with his approval, which many members of his own, and all members of the other party, in Congress found highly offensive. Certainly, it was not conducive to nonpartisan cooperation.

WHEN, at the call of the President, Congress meets again, the actual outbreak of war and the feeling of the people, plus Mr. Roosevelt's own non-partisan gesture, unquestionably will mean a change of atmosphere. Even among those who most deeply distrust Mr. Roosevelt's judgment and most strongly feel the country, in war as well as in peace time, would be safer in other hands, the disposition and the desire will be to support him in the handling of foreign affairs, particularly in the neutrality matter. They will acquiesce in the unalterable fact that Mr. Roosevelt will be our President for the next fifteen months and support him on every proposal where an appearance of national unity is needed.

HOWEVER, Mr. Roosevelt would make this support easier and surer if he would supplement his own public non-political exhortations by suppressing the purely political activities of his friends. But to have his appeals to others to rise above petty politics coincide with the obvious efforts of men known to be in close touch with him to utilize the crisis as an aid toward keeping him and themselves in power, is well calculated to create both resentment and resistance. For example, almost simultaneously with the President's canceling of his engagement to address the Democratic women, on the ground that this was no time for a political address, one of his most ardent journalistic advocates, with close White House relations, burst out with a printed announcement that "the war has created a political revolution in the United States and a third term for Roosevelt is now certain."

THAT kind of stuff promotes neither good will among Democrats nor the cooperative spirit among Republicans. Certainly, it does not make for national unity. It is suggested that, in addition to preserving a nonpartisan attitude himself and appealing to his opponents to abandon politics, the President use his influence to discourage his friends from the peculiarly offensive political activity in which they are indulging. He can serve both himself and the country better in that way than by vague expansion of the White House staff and second-hand announcements that the "Brain Trust" is "out the window"—an announcement at which the Messrs. Corcoran, Cohen & Co. snicker so heartily as to justify the suspicion that the suggestion originated with them and is essentially phoney.

Little Old American Lady Stays In Paris

By MERRILL MUELLER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Sept. 13.—The homeward rush of American tourists and expatriates from war-threatened Paris went ahead without a halt today, but in a tastefully furnished apartment off the Champs Elysees remains a little old American lady with a famous American name.

She is Mrs. Dora Forbes, the aunt of President Roosevelt, who has lived for almost forty years in Paris and who made it known today that she doesn't plan to leave her hearthside unless bombs and shells combine to make her apartment "untenable."

It was to see Mrs. Forbes that Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, the mother of President Roosevelt, visited Paris not many weeks ago.

Mrs. Forbes, who is over 90, delegated a spokesman to tell this correspondent that unless the situation in Paris becomes absolutely unbearable, here she will remain.

"Madame is determined," he said, "to remain in her avenue George V. home as long as it is tenable, but if Paris bombings become serious, she will, of course, return to America

"After all, she has lived in Paris for almost 40 years. All the friends of her whole life are here. You cannot expect a woman of her age to move about and start her whole life anew.

"Madame is in excellent health and in excellent spirits. Although she finds living in wartime Paris different from before, she is not uncomfortable. For the present, she is not making any emergency plans."

Only old friends are permitted to see Mrs. Forbes at the moment. But her "salon" is more or less what it was before, and presumably will continue to be, unless or until the bombs start dropping in the courtyard below.

Former State Senator Appears To Have Won Nomination For Council

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 13.—Former State Sen. James J. Coyne apparently won a Republican nomination for City council today as almost complete returns indicated a clean sweep for the slated Democratic candidates and mixed results for a scrambled field of 24 Republican candidates.

As anticipated, the slated Democratic candidates swung into the general election lincup, led by Edward J. Leonard, the newest councilman, and followed by P. J. McArdle, John T Duff, Jr., and Councilman George E. Evans.

money have you got?"—the idea being to determine whether or not he was fixed to support himself. He had the equivalent of about 30 cents. "Then," observed the authorities, "we'll have to return you to Calais." "If you do," said the anarchist, "it's evident that I'll spend the rest of my life being shuttled from Calais to Dover, from Dover to Calais, and back and forth indefinitely." "Well," rejoined the port officials, "we'll lock you up until we get order from the home office" (which bosses English immigration).

They did it. From the home office came an immediate telegram—"You dubs," in effect, "don't you realize that this bird is no ordinary immigrant? He's a political refugee. Let him in instantly."

You kinda like this liberality. It's extinct, though.

Sometmes Funny

Latin governments always have been more touchy than we Anglo-Saxons. Occasionally they've been funny.

Once on a time, when I was European manager for a big American news agency (my headquarters being in London), I had a Paris correspondent of the name F. Warrington Dawson. He quit and was succeeded by William Phillip Simms, now a very well-known old world commentator. "Simmsie" ("Billphil," as I called him) sent to the U. S. A. a dispatch that gave deep offense to the French, and they decided to deport him.

But they got him mixed with Dawson and issued their expulsion order against the latter. Notified, Dawson a (corking royal pro-Frenchman) hastened, with an American diplomatic supporter, to headquarters to explain himself. Upon conclusion of the conversation the Gallic functionary replied, "You don't talk like an innocent man." Dawson was "expulsed" and Simms never was.

E. H. Gary A Pauper?

Latin America's immigration regulations went loco, among other countries, as a 1914-'18 war complex.

For instance, in my time in Argenina, E. H. Gary sought to call in on the republic. E. H. Gary!—the steel magnet!—worth 30 to 40 million dollars. He had to give bond that he wouldn't become a public charge.

He was able to do it, but he'd have been stalled at the frontier otherwise. He was trying to enter Argentina from Chile. The Argentine welcomes a good class of immigrants under 60 years old, but it's suspicious of 'em above 60, and Gary was past the deadline.

Smugglers Build Tunnel Beneath Border Of France

Private Venture Is Discovered After Awo Years Of Use

(International News Service)

PARIS—The only international tunnel in the world has been in operation for two years—but has been kept a dark secret.

Even the French and Belgian authorities did not know about this tunnel which has been built as a private venture from Vieux-Conde in France to a short distance inside the Belgian frontier.

Now they know, and the tunnel builder and his two girl friends are in jail.

Roger Mitaine, 30-year old engineer, thought his talents were being wasted in a Roubaix factory. He drew up plans for a smuggler's tunnel under the border and had little difficulty in obtaining workers and money.

Taking up his residence at the Chateau de Peruweiz at Vieux-Conde, Mitaine burrowed the tunnel.

It amazed French customs officers.

No makeshift affair but a regular subway tunnel with a little electric railroad, it was electrically lighted throughout and had special drainage, pumps and storerooms. French officials estimate that thousands of pounds of tobacco passed through this tunnel annually.

Carmencita Vogares, 20 year old lyric artist and Violette Van Biesbrouch, 24 year old painter, were charged with complicity and also arrested.

An ironic touch was that the tunnel passed directly under the house of the customs agents at Vieux-Conde.

Ohio Farm Land Has Lost Much Of Productiveness

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 13.—Ohio's farm land has lost 52.5 per cent of its productiveness in the last 70 years, according to John A. Slipher, extension agronomist at Ohio State university.

In addition, Slipher estimated this land will lose another 25 per cent of its power to produce crops in the next 50 years unless farm practices are changed.

"Indians whose land was usurped by colonial pioneers," Slipher said, "advised those first white farmers to plant a fish in each hill of corn, but the white man's policy for 300 years has been to eat the fish himself and permit the corn to eat the soil."

This has resulted in a great decrease in the supply of fish and in appalling waste of farm lands in the United States, he added.

Newell, Mayne served as a councilman. During his early days he was quite a traveler and worked in the Alaskan gold mines, toured the south and fruit fields of Cuba and Puerto Rico.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

"Juvenile rheumatism" is a fairly common condition.

It is a joint involvement beginning during childhood.

The infection invades various tissues of the body.

Heart, joints and nervous system become affected.

It attacks, mostly, school children between 6 and 11.

The cause of the disease is not known.

Victims may have been weakened by respiratory infections.

They may have been handicapped by diseased tonsils.

The child complains of vague pains in joints or muscles.

Parents often dismiss these complaints as "growing pains."

The heart is involved in 70 per cent of such cases.

Rest, good food and hygiene are needed for such cases.

WHAT TO DO FOR ECZEMA ITCHING AND BURNING

Wash the affected parts with Resinol Soap and warm water to soften scales and crusts. Resinol Soap is suggested because it contains no excess of free alkali, and cleanses the tender skin so carefully. Dry by patting with a soft cloth—do not rub.

Many doctors recommend an oily ointment because it holds the medication in contact with the irritated skin surface, giving prolonged action. Resinol Ointment meets this requirement, and does even more. For nearly 45 years it has been—and still is—successfully used to relieve quickly the itching and burning of eczema. It contains soothing ingredients that aid healing.

Use Resinol Ointment today and enjoy comfort tomorrow. Get a jar, also a cake of Resinol Soap, at any drug store. For free sample, write to Resinol, Dept. 87, Baltimore, Md.

Old Landmark Being Removed

Old Mansion Believed To Be About 75 Years Old Being Torn Down

A familiar old landmark, the former mansion of the Sam Smith family, located along Atlantic avenue, near the Oakland district, is being demolished. The building, according to pioneer residents of the district, is about 75 years old.

In the past few years the building has been in bad repair and to fix it would cost many times the price of a new building, thus it is being razed.

The house is familiar to almost every resident of the district. The house sets on the left side of Atlantic avenue as one goes toward Mahoningtown. Its place on the edge of a steep hill made the house visible in several parts of the town.

Squalus Back In Portsmouth With Dead Crew

(International News Service)

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 13.—Salvage operations of nearly four months were crowned with success today when the submarine Squalus, which plunged to the bottom of the Atlantic with 26 dead last May 23, broke the surface off Portsmouth navy yard.

Giant pontoons first buoyed the stern out of water, then the bow followed, shooting the conning tower above the surface. Thereafter, the Squalus rolled easily on the surface in an oily sea.

A navy tug was expected to tow the submarine directly to the navy yard where, after it is berthed, those who perished in the steel-clad shell will be removed one by one for burial ashore.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

GOOD REASON FOR BARRING VISITORS FROM CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL.

It is a far from rare occurrence for parents to object to a child being taken to a hospital. I have run into quite a few such cases in my own practice, and my correspondence in recent years has confirmed this. It may be that some parents feel that the child stands a better chance for recovery if he remains in surroundings familiar to him, among the ones he loves. Unfortunately, all diseases of childhood cannot be treated at home. It is for the treatment of these sicker children that children's hospitals have been built in most of our cities during the past hundred years.

It is in these institutions that most of the progress in the care of children has been made. Each hospital has its strong points as well as its weak ones. Perhaps if we discussed briefly both of these parents might be reassured.

Parents often complain that they aren't allowed to visit their child as often as they would like. It is true that there is very little visiting done in children's hospitals, but there is a reason for this. A child will come into a hospital one day and he will be heart-broken at having to leave his mother and father. He will weep and wail with a good deal of gusto as he parts from them at the foot of the elevator. Then, two hours after he has come in, he will be quite happy in the company of the other boys and girls around him. He won't seem to worry a bit about his parent's absence and he will likely remain a happy child there in the hospital until his parents come to see him. It is then all his old home-sickness returns and, for hours after his parents leave, he will be weepy and unhappy. Eventually he will quiet down again and be contented until the sight of his father and mother on their next visit again upsets him.

I know this may sound unusual, but doctors and nurses who work around children's hospitals tell me that this is almost invariably what happens.

Then, of course, a second reason why visitors are discouraged in children's hospitals is that they increase the danger of infection. It has been noted too often to be accidental that there has been an outbreak of colds after visiting day in the hospital. When there is an epidemic of any kind in the neighborhood of Callander, we, ourselves, always exclude visitors from the nursery where the Dionne Quintuplets live. If the epidemic is serious enough, we exclude all outsiders from the place, even the parents, brothers and sisters.

So, if your child is forced to go to a hospital because your doctor thinks he is better there, and you discover that you can only go to see him once a week, make the most of it. Console yourself with the knowledge that it is all for the child's good and with the feeling that you probably miss him more than he misses you. I know it is hard to do but just try to analyze your feelings in the matter and realize that perhaps it is selfishness that compels you to appear at the hospital and ask that an exception be made in your case so you can see him oftener.

Canada Faces Tax Increases

OTTAWA, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press.)—Determined on a "pay-as-you-go" policy as far as possible in financing war costs, the Canadian government today presented the House of Commons a war-time budget calling for increased taxes on incomes, luxuries and excess profits.

In presenting the budget, Revenue Minister J. L. Ilsley told the House the government believed every citizen should be ready to share the cost of the war. Parliament already has voted $1000,000,000 for war purposes.

Income taxes are increased 20 per cent and the higher rate will be paid on the current year's income. Present exemptions and graduations of personal income taxes remain unchanged.

Plan To Make Policy Known

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The American government will "soon" make its policy known to Europe's warring countries on imposition of naval blockades and the halting of American commerce, Secretary of State Cordell Hull said Tuesday.

Hull's statement was made as a result of the search by a German submarine of an American steamship, the S. S. Wacosta, last Saturday.

Hull said the general policy to be adopted by this government has not yet crystalized, but that the full facts are being assembled on blockades, counter blockades and stopping and searching of commercial vessels. He added that he hopes to be able to make an official statement soon.

Army Recruit Drive Speeded

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The army ordered recruiting speeded up today for the air corps and other branches in response to President Roosevelt's limited emergency increases for the army, navy and marine corps.

More than 12,000 recruits will be sought by the end of October for the air corps alone, more than doubling the original enlistment schedule for the air force.

The accelerating was ordered before details were complete for enlisting the 17,000 net increase in army strength which Mr. Roosevelt decreed last week.

Already engaged in its most intensive drive for recruits in peace time history, the war department had sought to sign up nearly 115,000 men as additions and replacements by next June 30, to reach a goal of 210,000 men, including the Philippine scouts.

Only Upperclassmen Eligible For Pilot Training In School

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 13.—Only regularly enrolled Westminster College upperclassmen are eligible to enroll in the College Pilot training course to be offered at Westminster College this fall, according to Dean M. R. Kelso.

Definite word was received Tuesday from the civil aeronautics authority in Washington, adding Westminster to the list of colleges selected for the pilot-training work. Definite number of students who may take the training will be indicated later.

Under the federal provisions, each student enrolled in the course would pay an additional $40 and in return would receive approximately 16 lessons in flying, including a specified number of solo hours, enough to give the student a private flying license. Such students, at the end of the course, would be presumably placed in a reserve capacity, eligible for call should the United States go to war at some future time.

The cost of flying lessons for the college-pilots would be born by the government.

Neighborhood House Summer Activities

Work Of Summer Reported By Miss Butler To Americanization Board Here

The good work of the Neighborhood House has continued all summer. Miss Christine Butler, in charge of the house activities, reports to the Americanization board that she made 77 calls during the summer. Classes followed the usual schedule, and included instruction in English, violin, embroidery, Christian Americanism, music, Bible and Sabbath school work. The attendance at all classes was good.

The main work of the summer, Miss Butler said, was the Bible Vacation school. She expressed appreciation for a gift of $35 from A. A. Webb, which financed the school. The Central Christian members allowed the use of their building again for the school sessions. Enrolled in classes were 150, headed by 14 teachers and officers. Sixty-three diplomas were given also seven New Testaments. Boys and girls accepting Christ numbered 40. Those in charge were Jean Butler, superintendent; Sadie Othetis, secretary; Alice Grimes, Jean Butler, Ruth Stewart, Thelma Merrilees, Olga Nahas, Cynthia Lyons, Dorothy Lewis, Viola Boland, Marian Butler and May Hammond, teaachers; Virginia Ramsay, Barbara Parsons and Ruth Peterson, part time teachers.

Donations of books and a sand box were received from Sophia and Marie Buchner; Sabbath school papers from Central Presbyterian Sabbath school through Mrs. James Hinkson; books and magazines from McGill society of Highland U. Truck Act Changes Are Pointed Out

People Who Use Uncertified Trucks Are Liable To Fine

HARRISBURG, Sept. 13.—Persons who knowingly use uncertified truckers are guilty of a misdemeanor and are subject to a fine, the Public Utility Commission warned today. This has been the law since September 1, 1939, effective date of an amendment made to the Public Utility Law at the Legislative session of 1939.

The amendment provides that shippers who knowingly and wilfully, or otherwise fraudulently seek to evade or defeat truck regulation, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction subject to a fine of $50 for the first offense, and not more than $100 for any subsequent offense.

The amendment in question is pointed out by the commission to shippers throughout the Commonwealth in order that they may not subject themselves to penalties for violation of the public utility law by employing truckers without certificated rights.

Legion Awaits Big Convention

Parade Will Have Deep Significance As Veterans Gather In Chicago

MANY SEEK TO BE COMMANDER

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—When more than 225,000 American Legionnaires parade in Chicago September 26 as the highlight of their four-day convention, they will commemorate a grimmer march just 21 years ago from that date, the march that moved 1,200,000 Americans into the great Meuse-Argonne offensive.

In their spectacular Chicago parade the Legionnaires will be marching with the memory of their comrades left behind in that decisive battle of the World War which started with the "Big Push" on September 26, 1918, and ended with the signing of the armistice on November 11.

The national convention, which opens on Monday, September 25, is expected to be the greatest in the history of the American Legion, surpassing even the Chicago convention of 1933 and the New York sessions of 1937.

The four-day gathering will consider candidacies of six veterans to succeed Stephen F. Chadwick, of Seattle, retiring national commander. They are Ray Kelly, Detroit; Milo Warner, Toledo; Lynn Stambaugh, Fargo, N. D.; Ray Fields, Guthrie, Okla.; Jack Crowley, Rutland, Vt., and Edward N. Schieberling, Albany, N. Y.

Three candidates are in the field for national president of the Legion Auxiliary to succeed Mrs. James Morris, Fargo, N. D. They are Mrs. Ernest G. Rarey, Shaker Heights, O.; Mrs. Myron C. Miller, Anthony, Kan., and Mrs. William H. Corwith, Rockville Centre, N. Y.

Although Commander Chadwick has denounced the movement for universal pensions for veterans, resolutions for that compensation will be presented to the convention resolutions committee, it was learned.

Reports His Car Stolen; Beats Police On Case

(International News Service)

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept 13.—C. T. Kennemore has been living right.

Here's proof:

He drove to evening service in an Atlanta church. When the congregation disbanded, Kennemore went to the spot he had parked his car. The car was gone.

He reported the theft to police, then telephoned his son-in-law to drive him home.

The son in-law picked up Kennemore, swung into the line of traffic right behind a car that appeared familiar. So familiar was the car, in fact, that Kennemore suggested that it be forced to the curb.

When this was done, four youths leaped from the auto and fled.

Just as the theft victim had imagined, the familiar automobile was his own.

Survey Discloses Average High School Pupil Spends Much Time In His Bed

(International News Service)

OAKLAND, Cal.—Approximately 39 per cent of the time of an average high school student is spent in bed, according to a survey taken at the University High School in Oakland.

Eighteen per cent of the time is spent in school and an equal amount in recreational activities. During leasure time, 16 per cent is taken up by reading 20 per cent in visiting and in escorting and receiving visitors, 10 per cent at plays and motion pictures, 10 per cent in dancing and working with social organization and 2 per cent at church.

Twelve per cent of the students time is spent in games and athletics, 14 per cent in travel, 4 per cent in "just fooling around" and 12 per cent in miscellaneous pursuits.

The survey, covering several years also unearthed the significant fact that social distinctions in general are forgotten in schools.

Also discovered was that the percentage of native born students is static at slightly more than 90 per cent, but percentage of negroes and Asiatics has been from 1 in 1929 to 5.6.

Federal Agency Looks Into Hay Fever Ailment

Give Results Of Findings In Probing Firm Manufacturing Hay Fever Cures

By ALFRED T. NEWBERRY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The five grave members of the Federal Trade Commission, who keep tab on the trading practices of business and industry, turned "country doctor" and revived the perennial question over hay fever.

"Hay fever is not attributable to oversensitive, weak or unhealthy local conditions of the nasal membranes and their consequent susceptibility," the commissioners ruled.

"Hay fever cannot be successfully treated and cured, or the cause removed by local medication."

(Editor's Note: Funk and Wagnalls desk standard dictionary defines hay fever as "an annually recurring catarrhal affection of the eyes and air-passages.")

"Findings of the Commission are further that the respondent's theories as to the treatment of, or method of averting hay fever by local applications to the membranes of the nose are not in accordance with the consensus of present day medical opinion," the commission said.

Issues Restraining Order

The respondent is R. O. Murphy, trading as the Stillwater Company, Stillwater, Minn., distributor of five preparations advertised as a treatment and remedy for hay fever. The commission issued a cease and desist order against Murphy.

In advertising his porducts, the Commission reported Murphy is said to have stated:

"My belief is that hay fever is not a disease at all, but usually the result of the nose membranes being oversensitive and weak and that when they are in this condition the pollens irritate them excessively. All that is necessary is to build up and toughen the nose membranes a little so that they will not be sensitive to pollen. The whole thing then disappears regardless of what particular pollens you are sensitive too."

To this the Commission ruled:

"The findings of the Commission are that the preparations will not cure, avert, nor fortify the user against hay fever."

Steel Workers May Get Called Back

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 13.—With steel mills in the Pittsburgh area working at better than 70 per cent capacity, indications today were that 25,000 workers in the steel and metal industries will be called back to their jobs during the coming months.

Although steel company officials failed to show a great deal of optimism, a gradual increase to approximately 90 per cent of capacity in steel production was predicted for the future.

Orders for steel products, according to officials, have been tremendous during the past fortnight. As a result, a backlog has been built which is expected to keep the mills going until after the first of next year.

Rumania Prepares For Refugee Army

BUCHAREST, Sept. 13.—Rumania took steps today to regulate an expected influx of tens of thousands of Polish refugees fleeing from the German army.

A majority are Jews whom Rumania is reluctant to admit because of likelihood that few ever would leave. No other country in southeastern Europe is willing to admit them. Rumania may make exceptions for some, particularly tragic cases.

Concentration camps for refugees have been established at Hotin and Soroca, in Bessarabia, near the frontier.

Preparations also are being made for the eventuality that units of the Polish army as well as other non-Jewish refugees may cross into this country. Troops would be disarmed and interned.

Must Build Sewer Before Paving Job

Curbing and paving of Reynolds street between William street and Cunningham avenue was petitioned for October 25, 1937, and approved in the blanket project by the WPA. However, since the petition was presented no bill providing for the work has been introduced. According to City Engineer G. R. Throop, a storm sewer must be laid preparatory to the paving. Plans for the sewer have been prepared. However, no action can be taken, he said, until legislation so ordering has been enacted.

POISONOUS BLACK WIDOW SPIDER HAS INVADED CANADA

(International News Service)

McGREGOR, Ia. — The Black Widow spider, originally found only in the South and in California, has extended its range until it has been reported officially in every state and parts of Canada, Dr. Karl A. Stiles of Coe college, Cedar Rapids, Ia., told students enrolled in the wild life school at McGregor.

Iowa and Minnesota were the last states in which the poisonous spider was reported, no official record having been made of their presence in Iowa until 1936 and Minnesota a year later.

The Black Widow, which is the only poisonous spider in the United States, does not attack humans wilfully, Dr. Stiles explained. They bite only in self-defense.

How Poison Is Used

Normally the spider's poison is used to stupefy insects which have become entangled in her web.

The creature is distinguishable through its "patent leather" blackness, but can be identified definitely only through a red or orange marking shaped like an hour glass on the under side of the abdomen.

FIND FINE MURALS UNDER WALLPAPER OF ANCIENT HOUSE

(International News Service)

ROCKPORT, Mass. — Murals — possibly 150 years old — hidden under four layers of wallpaper, were uncovered in an ancient Smith street house here.

Covering the four walls of the small parlor, the paintings were done in the manner of the so-called American primatives, with stiff but attractive figures and colors, which will be fresh looking when properly cleaned.

Two painted flags crossed over an apple tree and a brace of doves, have 13 stars and bars each, dating the work back to early post-Revolutionary days. Most interesting panel represents a farm worker at a well, lifting an oaken bucket to his parched lips as a thirsty little blue dog looks on.

The property, a two-and-a-half story wooden Colonial dwelling, is owned by Mrs. Marian J. Cooney, who was born there, unsuspecting the presence of the murals until she decided upon a new wallpaper to brighten the walls.

'Real Prosperity' Will Find Dearth Of Skilled Labor

Vocational Experts Voices Opinion In Regard To National Situation

(International News Service)

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—When "real prosperity" comes, an unparalleled demand for skilled workers will face the nation, Dr. C. A. Prosser, one of the country's leading vocational experts, avers.

It has been shown that in the metal trades alone—if we were to regain our 1929 standing—we would have a shortage of at least 250,000 skilled mechanics," Dr. Prosser declared.

Continuing, Dr. Prosser said:

"We have a delayed building program in this country that will soon require the services of hundreds of thousands of skilled workers.

"All through the depression we have been losing skill and knowledge," he said. "Literally hundreds of thousands of workers have died, retired or have been forced to change occupations. Thousand of trained men, while tramping the streets in search of jobs, have found their abilities waning."

Dr. Prosser, asking for more attention to training of young workers, said there were two ways open to meet the prospective shortage of skilled workers.

"We can import skilled mechanics from abroad, or we can develop our own," he said. "American people will have to make the choice, but I am in favor of the second method."

DISCUSSES SATURDAY NIGHT CLOSING

Dear Editor News:

Having been requested to express my opinion regarding the hour of closing of stores in New Castle Saturday nights, I submit the following:

In the first place it is not a personal matter with me. It makes no difference to me whether the business places in New Castle, or any other town, close at 5 or 10 o'clock as we do our shopping during the day, not in the evening. But it does appear to me that a great many working people, as well as farmers are driven to the mail order houses because they cannot shop after the day's work is done.

I well realize that those who work in these places need their rest as well as others.

We are desirous for a "Bigger and Better New Castle" and to my way of thinking there is only one way and that is "Service."

I know people who work on farms and must milk their cows before they can get away Saturday evenings as well as other evenings, which makes it impossible to do their shopping before 6 o'clock.

Yours for a "Bigger and Better New Castle."

Judge Soffel Gets Good Vote In Home County Tuesday

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 13—Although she was far behind in the statewide returns, Judge Sara M. Soffel was leading both her Republican and Democratic rivals in her home county of Allegheny today for the state supreme court nomination.

A registered Republican, she sought the nomination on both tickets.

With better than one-third of the county vote tabulated, Judge Soffel was out ahead of both Judge Marion D. Patterson, Blair county Republican, and Dean Herbert F. Goodrich of the University of Pennsylvania law school, Democratic candidate.

The first woman candidate for the supreme court, strangely enough, was getting her strongest help from the Democratic voters.

New Castle To Oppose Butler Here On Friday

First Game Of Year At Taggart Stadium Will Start At 8 O'Clock

FIRST TEAM IS JUST ABOUT SET

Butler High with a 12 to 0 victory over Zelienople High already marked up, will come here Friday night to help New Castle High football team lift the 1939 football curtain at Taggart Stadium. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

New Castle High after two weeks of intensive drills is ready to meet the invader from the neighboring county. Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh is rather well set on his starting lineup, but may change his mind at the eleventh hour as he some times does. The one big problem is who will fill the bill at right tackle, the left tackle will unquestionably be John Kulnis, but it will either be Castrucci or Biddle at the other spot depending on what transpires at the practice field the next two days.

Butler Looks Good

Butler High looked good in the opening game against Zelienople and they will come here with a lot of confidence that maybe this is the year that they can chase that New Castle jinx. Coach Regis Heinzer generally has a fast team and a light one. For a few years Butler has given New Castle a scare on the gridiron and unless we miss our guess this year's game will be a humdinger.

The final polish to the locals will be applied Thursday night at Taggart Field under the mazdas. This will mark the first night workout for the team this year. Only light signal drills will be staged to acquaint the boys with the lights once more.

MIAMI BANS BURLESQUE

(International News Service)

MIAMI, Fla.—A burlesque company has been refused permission to operate next season by action of the Miami Beach city council. No reason for its action was offered by the council when it voted unanimously to deny a license for the girl show. The show occupied a space on the city's Million Dollar pier in seasons past.

Members of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's association will meet for the first time this month, tonight, in city hall, according to President George Sillman. Plans for the Fall field trials will be discussed. Motion pictures also will be shown, he added.

Those expected to be present are: Paul Lascola and Ben Taylor, Millers Shoes; Fred Smith and Carl Cochran, West Pittsburg; Fred Druschel, Homer Miles and Walter Ringer, Moose club; Ted Nelson and Lex McCormick, Eagles club; Wilbur Foht and George Shook, Household Finance; Ed. VanDusen and Bill Robison, Pennsylvania Power company; Len Stutz and John Babs, Babs Tin Shop; Paul Geib, Jimmie McCormick and Earl McCormick of the Fort Pitt and "Ernie" Crawford, league secretary-treasurer.

If George Theus could fatten himself to 135 pounds he would make an excellent match for Smoky Robinson the lightweight crownholder of the Amateur Athletic union. The southpaw showed he was a cagey, quick-thinking battler when he vanquished Frankie Moran.

Frankie Moran, local featherweight exhibited sportsmanship to a 'teenth degree following his defeat by George Theus in The Arena. "I am glad the judges gave George the decision" Moran stated. "I couldn't get going right and he beat me. I don't want any undeserved decision" he told the writer.

Reds Tighten Lead In Battle For First Place

Defeat Brooklyn Dodgers 3 To 2 On Home Run Ball By Hamlin

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Luke Hamlin's peculiar penchant for serving up home run balls at crucial moments may have supplied the Reds with just the tonic they needed to tighten their wavering morale, quiet their jitters and send them rushing headlong into whatever fate awaits them at the hands of the Yanks in the next world series.

Luke has thrown no fewer than 27 "gopher" balls this season. Several of them cost him and his brother Dodgers games that were apparently safely tucked away in the bag. But none was more distressing than the one he threw to Billy Myers yesterday.

Reds Top Dodgers

That one cost him his 18th victory; stopped the Dodger winning streak at six, and gave the Reds a chance to put over a 3-2 ten inning decision.

Bucky Walters went the route for the Reds for his 24th victory of the season and his third in the last eight days. If the management doesn't give Bucky a nice bonus, his brother Reds should chip in with an extra share from their world series cut.

The Cards clung doggedly to the Reds' heel by topping the Phils, 4-3. Ike Pearson gave only five hits but three of these were homers by Medwick, Mize and Moore and they spelled the difference between victory and defeat.

The Giants and Pirates were rained out but the Cubs trounced the Bees, 8 to 3, to tighten their hold on third place.

Mel Harder outpitched Lefty Gomez to give the Indians a 10-inning 4-3 verdict over the Yanks who saw their lead cut to a mere 16 games as the Red Sox, behind Galehouse's five-hit pitching, nosed out the Tigers, 2-1.

DiMaggio Hitless

More interesting than the Yankee defeat was the fact that Joe DiMaggio again fell below the .400 mark as he went hitless for the thirteenth time at bat.

Thorton Lee held the Senators to four hits as the White Sox edged in, 3 to 2, but President Will Harridge of the American League upheld a Washington protest and ordered the game replayed today as part of a double-header. The protest involved Gerald Walker's catch of Taft Wright's pop fly in the sixth inning. Walker caught the ball, dropped it, and picked it up again for a throw to Shortstop Eric McNair but the umpires ruled that he had held it long enough to be credited with the putout of Johnny Welaj by McNair in a double play.

And the Athletics came up with a rookie pitcher, Yclept McCrabb, who made his major league debut a success by giving the Browns only seven hits while his mates pounded out 19 for a 9-1 decision.

Change Is Made In Naval Rules

Age Limit Is Extended And Other Changes Announced Here Today

Word has been received by Joseph C. Murphy, officer-in-charge of the New Castle army recruiting station, that the following changes in recruiting, regarding broken navy service men, have been made:

Men who were discharged under honorable conditions and are in all respects qualified and have been out of the service less than eight years will be accepted in the same rating as that held at the time of discharge. The term of enlistment for these men is four years.

Ex-members of the army, marine corps and coast guard with creditable discharges of enlistment, may be accepted for enlistment even though they have been out of service over three months, provided they are under 35 years of age.

Men out of the naval service more than eight years and who are less than 35 years old, will be accepted here as seamen first class or firemen second class, under the above conditions.

According to Murphy, the age limit for first enlistment will be changed from 18 to 25 to 18 and under 31. The term for first enlistment still remains at six years.

Westminster Grid Squad In Training

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 13.—A rainy midweek failed to stop Coach Washabaugh's Westminster Titans from stiff twice-a-day practices, as 20 men appeared at the opening of a three-week training camp before the first Blue and White game, against Bethany, September 30.

All of this week will be spent in fundamentals, with light scrimmage near the week-end. Coach Washabaugh is running two two-hour practice sessions, morning and afternoon.

Particularly pleasing for the Titan coach is the presence of two freshman linemen, William Dapprich, Mt. Lebanon, a six-foot four-inch 250-pound tackle, and Lee Farrell, Mt. Lebanon, a 235-pound guard. Don Riblet, Erie, in the backfield last year, has been changed to a running guard position, and is a sure bet as a starter for Westminster.

Other men showing up well in the early practices are Ken Morrison, New Wilmington, a capable passer, ball handler and runner; Dick Newton, Ellwood City, excellently-coordinated halfback; Bob Washabaugh, New Wilmington, end, former fullback for Riverside Military academy, and John Faulkner, Avalon, back.

Back on the job are lettermen Harry Shoup, Dale Youkers, Caesar Laposki, William Rueffle, Don Riblet, Stan Lutton, Tony Valicenti, Fred Brinkley and Art Edwards.

Assisting Coach Washabaugh this year in whipping the Titan squad into shape are Assistant Coaches Dave Boyd and Melvin Hetzler, former Geneva and Tech star.

Market Again Runs Into Profit-Taking And Brings Erratic And Mixed Trend

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The stock market's war boom again ran into profit-taking today, but independent strength in recently backward issues brought erratic and mixed price trends.

"War babies," including steels, coppers, aviations and chemicals, broke one to more than four points before meeting support. Rails, mail orders, merchandising shares and building stocks, however, were up as much as their highs.

U. S. Steel broke 4¼ points to 78¼ in the first half-hour, but got back to around 80. Bethlehem lost more than three to 95 before its drop was checked. Other steels slipped fractions to a point.

Allied Chemical was down more than four and DuPont three at their lows. Losses in coppers ran to more than two points, with aviation shares slipping about as much.

Considerable switching was noted into those groups neglected in the recent head-long rush for "war" stocks.

Building issues were prominent in this connection. U. S. Gypsum soared five points and held about three of this late in the morning.

Rails gained fractions to two points in Union Pacific. Mail orders and merchandising shares ran up one to more than two.

Motors sold off moderately, with Chrysler down more than a point for a time. Westinghouse jumped two.

Memorial Church Plans Rally Day

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 13—When members of the Board of Christian Education, officers and teachers of the Bell Memorial Presbyterian church, gathered last evening at the church for the monthly business meeting, arrangements were made for the observance of Rally and promotion day on Sunday, September 24.

At that time, a special program will be presented by the intermediate department. Rev. J. E. Pringle, who conducted the devotional service, outlined an evangelistic campaign to be held in October.

Tuesday evening, Oct. 3, marks the date of the next meeting.

Fair Planned At Grange Hall

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 13—What promises to be an outstanding event of Thursday and Friday will be a fair to be held at the Pleasant Hill grange hall for members and friends.

The grange has had a number of successful fairs in past years and this year's exhibits will include grain, flower, fruit, vegetable and fancywork displays. The exhibits to be on display in the afternoon and evening will be judged by the county farm agent, H. R. McCulloch, with vari-colored ribbons to be awarded the winners.

Croft Selects Team For Opening Game On Saturday

Seniors Selected For Majority Of Berths On Ellwood Football Team

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 13.—Carrying out his belief that boys who have given three years of hard work to the football taem should be rewarded with a place on the first team in their final year, Coach Thurman F. Croft has decided that his starting team for the initial game on Saturday at Lincoln field with Bessemer will be composed of seniors with the exception of the fullback and center positions.

Anything but enthusiastic, Croft is worried because the team appears to be slow and so far lacks timing and co-ordination. They look better on the offensive than the defensive, he thinks. With only three regulars back, he has had a big job to find the right players for the other eight positions and now that a tentative selection has been made, he believes they are showing definite improvement.

This year's line will be small and will average only 155 pounds; however, the backfield seems to offer a bright spot with four "whirlwind" players that average 170 pounds.

Robert Powell and Earl Tanner have been chosen for the end positions and they are giving Bob Miller, last year's terminal, a chase for the opening. Miller will be absent Saturday owing to a Jewish holiday. Vito Fera, who last year had a dislocated elbow, and Gail Morrison will be tackles and Lester Biggins and Joe Lanzi have been named guards. Albert Pishioneri, who has had the center position three years, will be back at his old post.

Tommy Murphy, one of last year's idols, will be the signal caller while Charles Greco and Walter Biego will be in the halfback places. Johnny Mazzant, who made a grand showing on the junior high team two years ago, is ready to fill the fullback station and the mention of his name brings a smile to the worried mentor's face. Mazzant did not play last year at all owing to an abundance of backs and a leg injury that Croft wanted to be completely healed in readiness for this year.

MORTIMER AND CHARLIE — TAKING THE BOWS — By EDGAR BERGEN

Woman Judge Loses Election

Allegheny County Judge Is Defeated By Male Opponents

BELLEFONTE JUDGE LOSES HIS RACE

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Sept. 13.—Judge Marion D. Patterson of Blair county, Republican, and Dean Herbert F. Goodrich of the University of Pennsylvania law school, Democrat, today became their party candidates for the state supreme court on the basis of returns which swept organization-backed slates for the appellate courts to victory in the primary election.

Judge Sara M. Soffel of the Allegheny county court, first woman to seek the 21-year term post on the supreme court, ran far behind. There was no other opposition.

Miss Soffel, bucking party organizations, made her best showing in her home county of Allegheny, where, supported by Pennsylvania's Republican senator, James J. Davis, she led both Patterson and Goodrich. A registered Republican, Miss Soffel ran in both the Republican and Democratic primaries.

In the race for the three 10-year term superior court posts, the Republican candidates, composed of three sitting judges, bowled over the lone opposition of former Judge Arthur C. Dale of Bellefonte, former chairman of the state workmen's compensation board. The Democratic candidates had no opposition.

The victorious candidates for the superior court, who will oppose each other in the general election in November were: In the Republican party—William H. Keller, Lancaster; William E. Hirt, Erie, and Thomas J. Baldridge, Hollidaysburg. In the Democratic primary—Judge Keller (a Republican endorsed by both parties); Edward J. Thompson, Philipsburg, former state senator, and Congressman J. Harold Flannery, Wilkes-Barre.

The appellate court slates were the only statewide offices being voted on in the 1939 off-year election, but there were sharp contests for common pleas judgeships in 17 counties, numerous local offices in cities, boroughs and townships, and dry-wet local option referenda in some 500 communities.

Although Judge Soffel made her best race in the Republican primary, she made surprisingly strong showing in the Democratic primary in early returns, running two to one over Dean Goodrich in some 30 out of 8085 districts in the state. Dean Goodrich rapidly began to draw away, however, as additional returns were tabulated.

'Boomps-A-Daisy' Is Newest Dance Craze

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD.—Now it's the "Boomps-A-Daisy" and the "Polkorando."

They are two of the new dances shown at the Associated Dancing Teachers of Southern California convention.

And they will become America's newest dance crazes, say the dancing teachers.

The polka and numerous variations of the old-fashioned step is now all the rage in New York and Hollywood, said Ernest E. Ryan, president of the dancing teachers who has just returned from the National Dancing Masters Convention in New York.

"Jitterbugs are out," he said.

"Swing—that is, the jitterbug kind—is being replaced by smooth swing, music of a smoother and sweeter type, and the jitterbug dances are going out in favor of the polka and the rhumba."

Description of "Polkorondo"

The "Polkorondo," demonstrated to the convention is a heel-and-toe type dance, with many hops to a polka rhythm.

The polka rhythm is one of the new type of "smooth swing," said Swart.

Then, if you really want more fun than dignity, there's the new "Boomps-A-Daisy."

Designed to replace the old "Lambeth Walk," the partners in the Boomps clasp hands, then clap their own knees and swing around. In the swing the gentleman "accidentally" bumps against his partner. She turns to him, acts coy and surprised, and he, in turn apologizes. Then the wheel into more conventional dance steps.

The "Boomps-A-Daisy" was demonstrated to the dancing masters by Grover Abel of Houston, Texas, and his pretty wife, Julia.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

There is throughout America a great company of reformed elbow-benders who, as alumni of the Keeley Institute, will be cheering for old alma mater on September 17, when the sixtieth anniversary of the institute will be celebrated, at Dwight, Ill. They will dedicate a bronze plaque to Dr. Leslie E. Keeley and his two associates, John R. Oughton and Major Cutris J. Judd.

Dr. Keeley has been dead for a generation now. But the good he did lives after him, and I have an idea that this celebration will flush more poignant memories around the crossroads, whistling posts and sizeable small towns of the country than anything Thornton Wilder or Sinclair Lewis could think up in their mellow and not so mellow retrospect.

I'm not thinking of Aurora, Ind., alone. I could tell you of Tanglefoot Pete, a story of the town souse and how old Doc Kyle collected some money and sent him to Dwight, and how he came back, sober as an owl, and got a good job as bookkeeper at the iron wheel factory and sent his children to college. But it would be just one of a multitude, and you probably can think of a better one from your old home town.

In my boyhood there was an organization of about 30,000 Dwight alumni, with nearly 400 local lodges in every state in the union and auxiliaries in which wives, mothers and sisters were enrolled. They held a national convention and the members' insignia, worn in the buttonhole, was a horseshoe. That was because the league was formed in a blacksmith shop.

"Dan Hubbard is one of the smartest men in Poseyville. He would be in Congress right now if it wasn't for whiskey. He certainly is a well-posted man. You ought to hear him quote Shakespeare. If he was in Congress and he recited that piece about the seven ages of man they'd make him President." You will distinctly remember how your father and the postmaster saw Dan off on the early morning train and how an impromptu reception committee hailed him joyfully when he came back cured, and how he hooked up with Judge Prouty's law practice and took his old place as the best lawyer in the county.

In a big city it doesn't make so much difference if one or two men, more or less, are on the skids. But in small-town America, where everybody knows who your folks were, how much money you have, and just at what hour you went home last night, your slide into the gutter becomes a matter of great public concern, and affectionate concern, too, which is perhaps more important.

Mr. H. L. Mencken might disagree, but I believe that this is the soil in which true democracy flourishes. If the word means anything—its being run ragged these days—it means that the dignity and well-being of any single human being is in some mysterious way important. Your old man was a real democrat when he was worrying about the town drunk and helping send him to Dwight.

That's one reason why I find a big slice of reassuring Americana in this Keeley cure celebration.

Dr. Keeley, a native of Lawrence County, New York, was a Civil War surgeon who settled in Dwight in 1866. He attended the Rush Medical college and while in the army investigated the effects of alcohol on Union soldiers. He became convinced that alcoholism was a disease. He continued his experiments after settling in Dwight. In 1879, he announced that he had found a cure for alcoholism, and established the Keeley Institute.

During the next decade, he encountered much skepticism in the medical profession and it was not until the early eighteen-nineties that he got into mass-production of reformed drunks. Joseph Medill, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, helped a lot by processing batches of soused reporters through the doctor's mill. Each got a grand dry-cleaning and lived happily ever after. Mr. Medill flared the news through the corn belt and today's anomaly is that the corn belt is celebrating a lessened demand for corn juice in those parts. As they gather at the old alma mater on September 17, the college hymn natually will be "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes."

They said the change was noticeable almost immediately.

Radio's War News Curbed

LONDON Sept. 13. — United States broadcasting companies have curtailed their transatlantic broadcasts from London of European war developments during the last week. Apparently this is partly due to the small amount of news officially released for publication.

Fewer commentators are heard on the international broadcasts.

The script for news or comment must be submitted to a censor at the British Broadcasting company—usually a regular member of the BBC staff assigned as a censor. He reads and returns it to the speaker with any suggested changes, then listens to the broadcast.
